NEW PAYNE TARIFF BILL; HERE IT IS

HIDES, IRON AND COAL ON FREE LIST—LUMBER CUT ONE-HALF.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Immediately after the House convened to-day Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee introduced the new tariff bills and asked that it be referred to the committee which was done. Chairman Payne asked that 20,000 copies be printed for use of senators, representatives and the public. The Ways and Means Committee will hold a meeting tomorrow at 10 a. m. The bill will be reported back to the House on Monday when debates will begin on it.

Chairman Payne, in submitting the bill, gave out the following statement:

"One problem that confronted the committee was the question of revenue. The business of all commercial nations has been depressed for nearly two years, and thus has affected our commerce and greatly reduced our revenues, so that we have a large deficit, but the revenues under the present law are improving from month to month as business conditions are becoming better.

"The last normal year of imports was the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906; 1907 was an unusually prosperous year and the revenues from customs exceeded those of 1906 by $32,000,000. The committee have therefore taken the year 1906 as the basis to form their estimate of the revenue-producing qualities of the new bill. Should the next fiscal year prove prosperous and the normal condition of 1906 return, on account of the large increase in population, the revenues for 1910 would show a considerable increase over the estimates of the committee.

To Guard Against Deficit.

"With a return to anything like normal conditions during the next fiscal year, it is safe to predict that the deficit would be entirely wiped out; but, in case it is not, the bill provides for the issue of Panama Canal bonds to reimburse the treasury for the $40,000,000 paid out in the original purchase of the canal. This would more than make up any probable deficiency.

"There is also re-enacted the provision for the issue of certificates to run one year to replenish the treasury, raising the amount from $100,000,000 to $250,000,000, an amount sufficient to provide at any time against two or three years of depressed business condition."

While there is no duty imposed upon coffee, tea is taxed 8 cents when imported from the country, where it is produced, and 9 cents when from other than the producing country. The internal revenue tax on cigarettes is materially increased, while the tax on beer and whiskey is undisturbed. A cut of 50 per cent, is made in the steel and lumber schedules, and iron ore, hides, tallow, cottonseed oil and works of art, more than twenty years old, are placed on the free list.

Hides, tallow, cottonseed oil and works of art more than twenty years old are placed on the free list.

The tariff on boots and shoes is reduced 40 per cent. and on other leather manufactures in proportion. This schedule remains about the same, but the duties on window and plate glass of the smaller sizes are increased, while the duties on the larger sizes are reduced. The tariff on wool of the first and second class, used principally for clothing, is not disturbed, but on wool of the third class known as carpet wool it is reduced on the cheaper grades.

Cuts in Cheap Wool.

A five-cent reduction is made in the duties of shoddy and waste, while wool tops are assessed six cents a pound more than the duty on scourd wool, which is unchanged. The recommendations for placing wood pulp on the free list and reducing the duties in print paper, with certain restrictions, made by the Mann committee of the House, are incorporated in the bill.

The duty of refined sugar is reduced five-one-hundredths of a cent a pound, and on dextrin one-half cent a pound. A reduction of one-half cent a pound is also made in the duty of starch, with the exception of potato starch. Zinc in ore is assessed one cent per pound for the zinc contained. The tariff on pig iron is reduced from $4 to $2.50 per ton.

The principal increases are made in the duties on lemons, cocoa and substitutes for coffee, coal tar, dyes, gloves and coated papers and lithographic prints.

It was expected, the new tariff bill is made on a maximum and minimum basis with the provision that the maximum rates are not to go into effect until 60 days after the passage of the bill.

For Recipricoty.

Reciprocity provisions are contained in the paragraphs assessing duties on bituminous coal and coke and agricultural implements by which these articles are given entry free of duty when the free importation of these articles imported from countries which permit from America.

The inheritance tax provision of the bill is similar to the New York state law. It provides a tax of 5 per cent. on call inheritances over $500 that are collateral inheritances or in which strangers are legatees. In cases of direct inheritance the taxes prescribed are: On $100000 to $500000 1 per cent.; on $100,000 to $500,000, 2 per cent. and on those over $60,000, 3 per cent. It is estimated that $20,000,000 annually will be derived from the tax.

The maximum and minimum provision of the bill does away with the necessity of continuing the foreign trade agreements.

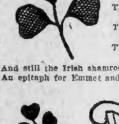
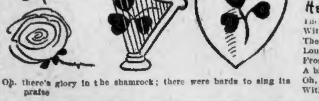
WEARING OF THE GREEN

THE THREE LEAVES OF THE SHAMROCK

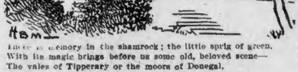
By WEX JONES.



AH, there's sorrow in the shamrock: it is wet with many tears,
Sued by Kathleen Na Houlahan throughout the bitter years.
There is sorrow for the pikemen who wore it to their graves;
There is sorrow for the exiles who wore it o'er the waves:
There is sorrow—a proud sorrow—for the days when it was seen,
Though they hanged both men and women for the wearing of the green—
And still the Irish shamrock grows, and still shall hold its own,
An epitaph for Emmet and a monument for Tone.



Oh, there's glory in the shamrock; there were bards to sing its praise
Through the Isle of Saints and Scholars in the ancient, golden days.
The minstrel twined it on his harp, the warrior on his shield,
And well the three-leafed badge was known on many a bloody field.
The Wild Geese bore it on their breasts; it never gleamed in vain
By France's lilied banner or the castled flag of Spain;
And on that day at Fontenoy, as the clashing columns close,
How green the shamrock shows above the flaunting English rose!



There is memory in the shamrock; the little sprig of green,
With its magic brings before us some old, beloved scene—
The vales of Tipperary or the moors of Donegal,
Lough Gill in placid beauty, like an angel's tear let fall;
From the thundering coast of Kerry to the dim, blue Wicklow hills,
A bit of shamrock takes us as its fairy magic wills.
Oh, a sprig of Irish shamrock beguiles, inspires and grieves,
With Memory, Glory, Sorrow, its trinity of leaves.

TRAIN RUNS INTO CROWD IN STATION

BOSTON EXPRESS SMASHES MONTREAL DEPOT—FOUR KILLED, SCORES INJURED.

MONTREAL, March 17.—Four persons are dead, sixteen seriously injured and between forty and fifty badly hurt as the result of the Boston and Montreal express train running wild into the Montreal Terminal Station to-day at forty miles an hour.

The dead comprise three women and one girl, Elsie Villers, eight years of age. Of the seriously injured, six are women and twelve are men. Forty or fifty others are in the hospitals, the three hospitals of the city being filled with the wounded.

Two miles out of the big station, which is known as the Windsor Station, a staybolt on the locomotive broke and the connecting rod smashed against the side of the cab, hurling the engineer and fireman to the ground. They were later picked up unconscious, and it is feared that they will die.

A partial list of the injured follows:

CUNNINGHAM, MARK, engineer, Montreal west, compound fracture of skull, will probably die.

BUCKINGHAM, ROBERT, No. 54 Clark avenue, Westmount, scalp wounds, internal injuries, condition critical.

WELLS, J., No. 234 Guy street, Montreal, ear torn, broken ribs, condition critical.

PLANT, WILLIAM, No. 309 St. Andrews street, Montreal, hip fractured.

CHRISTIE, C., Cowansville, internal injuries, condition critical.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM, Montreal, cuts on head.

CARIETY, JOHN, Montreal, hotel porter, both legs broken probably internally injured; will probably die.

The locomotive thundering ahead at enormous speed without a driver, leaped from the terminus of the track, tore through the wall and crushed its victims as it shot forward to the street below. An explosion followed the crash.

While the passengers on the heavy train were badly shaken up and some of them thrown from their seats none was seriously hurt.

Panic Follows Crash.

There was an unusually large crowd in the big station because of the March 17th holiday. In the ladies' waiting room there were scores of women and children and a few men ready to take trains out of the city.

With a roaring, tearing, ripping crash, in which the escaping steam whistled like a fiend, the locomotive leaped upon the crowd before they realized their danger. The cries of the wounded and the shrieks of the hysterical filled the big station. Men and women dashed about in a panic.

The passengers from the wrecked train, themselves badly frightened, and some of them suffering from shock and bruises, soon filled the station. The police were summoned and every ambulance in the city was called.

The work of caring for the injured began at once. In a few minutes the bodies of three women and a little girl had been extricated. The child was recognised at once as Elsie Villiers, eight years of age. She had been waiting for her mother.

Two women were pinned beneath the locomotive and they were extricated with the greatest difficulty. The police had a difficult time in taking care of the frantic crowd. Men and women ran about half crazed by the horror of the tragedy.

All the doctors of the city who could be reached hurried to the station. The wounded were lifted into ambulances and other vehicles and hurried to the hospitals.

Among those who were injured were a number of Indian women who had gathered at the station to sell their beadwork and other wares. They seemed to be right in the path of the locomotive.

The injured were taken to the General Hospital, the Notre Dame Hospital and the Royal Victoria.

Wall Topples Over

The train ran into the station on track No. 7. The locomotive and tender broke away from the cars and hurled itself against the granite wall of the station. Forty feet of the wall was torn down and it toppled into the waiting room. The engine and tender tore through until they hung between the waiting room and the basement, where they were visible from the street.

A report was circulated that there had been some kind of an explosion before the train reached the terminal station, and that was the cause of the engineer and fireman being thrown from the cab. It was also said that the engine ran fully five miles without any control at all.

The Boston & Montreal express is one of the largest and most luxuriant trains that leaves this city. It left the North Station at 8:30 o'clock last night on the Boston & Maine as No. 177. Besides mail and day passenger coaches, it carried three sleepers—one for Sherbourne, one for Quebec and the other for Montreal and Chicago.

The officials of the Boston & Maine Railroad had not heard of the accident when they were informed of the facts by a representative of the BOSTON AMERICAN. They immediately got their wires working and were soon in touch with the situation in Montreal.

LYNN MAN TO TRAIN WORLD'S RICHEST BABY

LYNN, March 17.—Roy K. Wentworth, one of Lynn's best athletes, a snare drummer of rare skill and for years employed in the General Electric Company's works here in an important position, is to-day beginning his work as physical and athletic instructor of John Nicholas Brown of Newport, R. I., the richest baby in the world.

Only last year Wentworth finished among the first ten runners in the big Marathon from Ashland to Boston on April 19. That race won for him the heart and hand of pretty Florence A. Nicholson of Lynn and it is through his young wife that Wentworth is to-day "Baby Brown's" athletic instructor.

Just the other day the bride was visiting in Newport. Wentworth went there for a day and he met "Baby Brown" and "Baby's" mamma.

"He's the best athlete in Lynn," Mrs. Brown was told. He looked the part, did Wentworth, and Mrs. Brown, who lives for her boy alone, promptly engaged the handsome young man to train up her son as a man should be.

A trip to Boston was made. Wentworth bought a complete gymnasium, which contained every device for developing and strengthening the muscles. Then he resigned his good Lynn place and removed to Newport where he and his bride have secured a pretty cottage near the Brown mansion.

"Baby Brown," who is a good little bag-puncher already, was delighted. He has been put on a "diet" which will develop brain, brawn and pluck and is now hard at it every day under the instruction of Roy Wentorth.

Roy's father is said to be the youngest G. A. R. man in the country. In the Civil War he went into the service when but eleven years of age. Roy himself was a good little drummer at seven, and at that tender age played a part in a Grand Army entertainment here.

SCOUR WOODS IN SEARCH FOR HIGHWAYMEN

The police of Lexington, Arlington, Concord and adjoining towns are to-day searching the woods and barns for two highwaymen and burglars who yesterday held up and robbed Milton J. Barrett of this city, in Sylvia street, Lexington, and later broke into and looted the mansion of Mrs. Sarah Harding in Lincoln road.

Through James H. Wilbur, caretaker on the Harding estate, the police are provided with a very good description of the two outlaws.

Wilbur had a thrilling experience with the two men himself. As Mrs. Harding was away, he and his wife were left alone in the big mansion. Early yesterday morning they heard noises in the house. They investigated and found that thieves had broken into the pantry and had looted it.

Later in the morning Wilbur went to a small cottage in the grounds closed during the winter and occupied by servants in the summer. Here he found the two men. They had eaten and were pelting each other with eggs and pieces of bread.

The two men took to their heels as fast as they could, while Wilbur hastened the other way to alarm the Lexington police. The thieves evidently left their bicycles, for two new wheels were found near the cottage.

Wilbur has described the men to the police. They were both young and well dressed. One was five feet eight inches in height. One was five feet eight inches in other was five feet four inches. He was dark. Both wore no beards.

The two men, evidently the same as those who looted the Harding house, held up and robbed Milton Barrett of West Cedar street, Boston, in Sylvia street, Lexington, at 10 o'clock Monday night.

Barrett had been visiting in East Lexington and was on his way to get a car for Boston at Arlington Heights. He had just reached Paul Revere road when two men grabbed him and ordered him to "give up." All they got was $2.80. The highwaymen ran, while Barrett hurried for an Arlington policeman.

10,000 MARCH TO CELEBRATE EVACUATION

Nearly 10,000 men, soldiers, sailors, militiamen and veterans this afternoon tramped through the streets of South Boston, while martial music filled the air and myriad flags snapped in the brisk breeze.

South Boston is celebrating Evacuation Day.

The early morning rains and snows made little effect on the drapery, bunting and flag decorations, with which Broadway, Dorchester avenue and nearly all of the side streets of the peninsular district is gay to-day.

But the quick turn which the weather made from the abominable to really enjoyable made the hundreds of thousands of people who lined the sidewalks, filled the piazzas and windows to watch the military pageant, feel that life was well worth while.

The firing of salutes and the ringing of bells ushered in the biggest day of the year for South Boston at sunrise.

Mayor George A. Hibbard entertained Major General George B. Davis, Judge Advocate General, U. S. A., the commanders of the battleships in the harbor now, the city officials, local members of the State Legislature and the members of the South Boston Citizens Association at breakfast at the Hotel Somerset at 10 o'clock this morning.

At noon every big bell in South Boston was rung and by that time the crowds were thronging the streets along which the big parade moved.

Everybody wanted to see the sailors and marines of the battleships now in the harbor, for this is the first time they have marched through the strets of an American city in more than a year. Then "Skellig Mohr," the Irish goat which the crew of the battleship Vermont now own as their mascot, came in for a big share of attention.

Never did South Boston present a more gala appearance than to-day. The decorations are fully as profuse as in former

ARBITRATION DECLINED BY DOCK MEN

That the longshoremen will not submit their differences with the steamship companies to the State Board of Arbitration, and that they will insist upon the terms their scale for 1909 demands, are assertions made to-day by Master Workman John Stevens of O'Connell Assembly No. 7,174 of Longshoreman Union, Knights of Labor.

The dispute over the 1909 wage rules and working rules between the longshoremen and the agents of the different steamship companies is, apparently, as far from settlement as ever.

"We have made no concession to the steamship companies nor have they made any to us" said Master Workman Stevens. "In the first place we have no concessions to make. In years gone by the steamship companies have agreed to abide by our rules.

"In the conference on Monday the companies refused to accept the first article of our rules and we left the hall. Now, I understand the steamship companies want us to agree to arbitration by the State Board. We will not, for we have nothing to arbitrate.

Decision on Friday.

"Next Friday night the different unions are to meet and on Sunday the council is to hold a conference. At that time we will decide definitely what we will do. We do not want to strike. We want to decide our differences peaceably."

The Longshoremen insist this year that gangs on bulk cargo consist of eleven men with five tubs and two men wheeling. They declare that the present practice of having six tubs is too dangerous. They also insist upon an increase of wages of ten cents an hour for unloading bulk cargo. These two demands the Longshoremen say they will hold out for at whatever cost.

MITCHELL IN COAL STRIKE SEEKS PEACE

NEW YORK, March 17.—The National Civic Federation to-day took a hand in the threatened strike in the coal fields, and Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the organisation, went to Philadelphia to try to persuade President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Company to reach an agreement with the Union men.

John Mitchell, formerly President of the United Mine Workers of America, and now assistant secretary of the Civic Federation, will talk to the Union men in an effort to persuade them to arbitrate their difficulties.

It is stated on good authority that the operators will shut down the collieries on April 1 unless the miners come to an agreement with them before that time or a strike is declared. It is conceded that with so much coal above ground this would be a bad time to strike, but the operators, in case their offer of renewal of the agreement is not accepted on April 1 and there is no strike then, will not allow the union leaders to put off matters until the Winter is near, when a strike would be most effective. Only three things can happen on April 1—a shut down, a strike, or a continuance of the present agreement for three years longer.

Frank Oberender, general sales agent for the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, said that if there is not a strike on April 1 there will be a suspension of work at the collieries. The nature and character of the suspension would depend on what happened in the meantime.

"The suspension might be for two days, a week or a couple of months," he continued. "It will depend on what is going to happen before then. This week, with the exception of to-day, which the miners will make a holiday anyway, there will be

SERVIA NOW RUSHES ARMY TO FRONTIER

BUDAPEST, March 17.—Servia is rushing all her troops to the Bosnian frontier. Austria has already mobilised a strong detachment upon her frontier. Both movements are looked to be defensive, although Servia is feverishly arming her men. The men in the field for Servia now number 75,000.

The Servians are wrought to the highest pitch of patriotic enthusiasm. In her army are men ranging from eighteen to fifty. Mere boys of sixteen have been sent from their homes to bear arms.

VIENNA, March 17.—Crown Prince Franz Ferdinand is ready to take the field as commander-in-chief of Austria's army at a moment's notice.

Warlike preparations continue and the impending clash with Servia is approaching a crisis. Servia, according to reports here, has 125,000 men ready to take the field. Many of the troops are now within easy reach of the frontier.

Public opinion is greatly excited, owing to the belief that war with Servia is imminent. Telegrams from Belgrade prove that increasing preparations for war are being made in Servia.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair and colder to-night. For Thursday fair, with light to moderate west by southwest winds.

MRS. SILSBY ON TRIAL IN DEATH CASE

Mrs. Rose A. Silsby of Clematis Brook, Waltham, was placed on trial before Judge Edgar R. Sherman and a jury in the Middlesex County Superior Criminal Court this afternoon on the charge of manslaughter in the killing of Clinton E. Childs of Boston on September 24, last year.

The woman was pale and plainly nervous as she stepped forward to answer to her name. She was clad in deep black and wore a blue hat with gray veil. She bit her lips repeatedly as she came before Judge Sherman and semed gratly affeted.

The jury was drawn within seven minutes after the case was called. But one man was challenged and that was done by District Attorney John J. Higins.

Judge Sherman appointed Malcolm D. Brown, a manufacturer of Lowell, as foreman. Mrs. Silsby was called to the bar at 2:03 and at 2:12, Clerk John L. Ambrose administered the oath. Then District Attorney Higgins began his opening speech to the jury.

Excused From Jury Duty.

One of the jurors, Nathaniel D. Hewes of Waltham, asked to be excused. He told Judge Sherman that he had read so much of the case and knew so much about it that he did not think he should serve. He was excused.

COSTER KNOCKS OUT DENNIS

NEW YORK, March 17.—Joe Coster found another victim to his blinding left jab in George Dennis, at the Bedford A. C. of Brooklyn. The lads met in the windup, which was scheduled to go six rounds, but Coster ended matters early in the third round.

NEW TARIFF SCHEDULES REPORTED IN PAYNE BILL SENT TO THE HOUSE TODAY

The abrogation of these is provided for in a section which authorizes the President to issue notices of the termination of the agreements within ten days after the bill goes into effect.

Meet Foreign Patent Laws.

The French agreement would, therefore, terminate immediately, whil the German agrement would rmain in force for six months. The time that must intervene befor the inoperation would become effective range from three months to one year.

A provision in the bill is designed to meet the conditions resulting from the patent laws of Great Britain, which requires that patentees must manufacture their articles within Great Britain. This provision applies the same rules to patents taken out in this country by aliens as applies to Americans in the country of the aliens.

Drawback privileges are extended by the bill and by the method of valuation on articles upon which the tariff imposes an ad valorem duty is broadened for the purpose of preventing the practice of undervaluation.

ENGINE GIVES FIRE ALARM; $75,000 LOSS

FITCHBURG, March 17.—Awakened by the shrill blasts of a locomotive whistle, hundreds of people turned out early today for a fire that destroyed the D. M. Dillon boiler works. The loss is $75,000 and sixty men are thrown out of work.

A general alarm on the city's wires called out the entire fire department which fought the blaze until daylight.

Several firemen had narrow escapes from injury. Joseph Farrell of Hose 1 was overcome by smoke and removed to the hospital. The fire broke out in the blacksmith shop and spread to the main shop built only three years ago. This was destroyed, the flames spreading to other buildings of the plant.

The cause of the fire is a mystery. The principal buildings were of brick, located on Crocker Way, near the railroad station.

'RESTORE OLD SUBWAY,' SAYS EXPERT RICE

Restore the old subway as it was, says George S. Rice, chief engineer of subway construction in New York, to the legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

Put the elevated trains back in the Tremont street subway; have the North and South Stations connected by elevated trains making the circuit and make Scollay square the terminal of the Cambridge subway, says this man, who did more than anyone else to solve New York's rapid transit problem.

He says because so many people coming to Boston to work use the railroads, and because the railroad stations are on the edges of the congested districts, the problem of rapid transit here is local. Mr. Rice says some means must be provided to bring these hundreds of thousands to the business and shopping centres with dispatch and ease.

He says the removal of the elevated trains from the Tremont street subway and from the North and South station circuit did away with the original scheme of connecting the railroads with the several sections of the city and made it hard for people living in the western part of the city to reach the eastern portions.

Engineer Rice says:

"I am of the opinion that the Boston connection of the Cambridge subway should be at Scollay square, as was originally ordered by the Legislature of 1897, and thus join with the East Boston tunnel, and in that way afford rapid transit for trains between the Cambridge district and East Boston; and to make the system more complete the elevated trains should be restored to the Tremont street subway, connecting with the systems which have been in operation for years through this part of the city.

"In this way the circuit system would be restored, and means would be supplied at a comparatively small expense by which almost all the districts which are now in need of additional transportation facilities would be reached."

CHURCHES THRONGED AT MEN'S MISSIONS

St. Philip's Roman Catholic Church was crowded to the doors last night by the men of the parish, proving that the interest in the mission is steadily increasing. The Jesuit Fathers have been conducting St. Philip's mission for the past three weeks and during all of that time the interest has been steadily quickening.

Rev. Father Ennis, S. J., preached and spoke upon the desire of many people today to take hell out of religion or at least to rob the place of its terrors and threats of torture.

St. Mark's Church in Dorchester was crowded last night, it being the third night of the mission for men which the Passionate Fathers are holding there. Rev. Father Joachim spoke on the leading of others to do wrong.

BABY DISOWNED IN DIVORCE COURT BY MRS. ELLEN GIBSON

FIST FIGHT AS DIVORCE TRIAL ENDS

The conclusion of the trial of the Gibson divorce suit to-day was marked with a spectacular mix-up in the corridor of the Court House that caused a sensation in the big building.

When the commotion was over it was seen that John Sloan, named in the suit, had what would ultimately result in a very black eye. Mrs. Hattie Freeman, was arrested upon the charge of Mr. Sloan that she had assulted him.

When the Court House corridor was reached Mrs. Freeman was heard to remark:

"So you would assault my character, would you?"

After that there was what might be characterized as a "rough house" if it had taken place outside of a courthouse.

In the course of the trial Sloan claimed that one of the children introduced was his and that its mother was Mrs. Freeman. This lady took the stand and angrily denied that she was the mother of the child and testified that Sloan had told her that he was the father of the child and Mrs. Gibson the mother.

Judge Lawton reserved his decision in the case.

Mrs. Ellen D. Gibson of No. 204 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, who, while on the witness stand in the Suffolk County Divorce Court, yesterday, dramatically denied that she was the mother of two pretty children ith whom she as confronted. She took the witness stand again to-day and emphatically denied her husband's charges relative to her relations with Sloan, who is named in the divorce papers of John E. Gibson of No. 435A Somerville avenue, Somerville.

Mrs. Gibson's testimony as corroborated by her two daughters, Margaret, eighteen, and Mary, fourteen.

GALLINGER HAS NEW OCEAN MAIL BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—A new ocean mail bill has been introduced by Senator Gallinger. It provides:

O'MARA PREDICTS IRISH OPERA ERA

Joseph O'Mara, the Irish operatic tenor, now singing at the Park Theatre in "Peggy Machree," takes March 17 as a timely day to make an interesting prediction as to the future of music in Ireland.

"The day will come," he declares, "when Irish opera will rank with, if not ahead of, French, Italian or German opera, which is now the rage. For the purposes of opera Ireland is richer in material than any country in the world. Its literature is practically an untilled field. The great Finnian cycle of sagas are as grand in their conception and vastly more fascinating in their weird mysticism than the best of the Norse tales upon which Wagner and Grieg have founded their best works.

"What a field is there, then, for the Irish composer and librettist! Given one of the sagas of the Cuchulin period, with its gorgeous imagery and mystical weirdness, what an opera could be written by a composer of talent and erudition who is saturated with the characteristics of Celtic melody! The composer is not yet here, but I believe that within another generation we shall see him, and then Ireland shall again prove her claim to the title of "The Land of Song."

IN FIERY ROW KELIHER HITS AT ACCUSERS

WASHINGTON, March 17.—"The Democratic party will never amount to much in Congress until it gets more men from the North in it."

With this fiery exclamation, delivered in an exchange of hot speeches, Representative Keliher of Massachusetts threw down the gage to the organization in defending the charge in Democrat caucus that there had been a lot of treachery among the Democrats who voted with the Republicans to save Speaker Cannon from defeat.

As a result of the Caucus row the regular Democrats were madder and hotter and sorer than ever when they met in regular session to-day.

Keliher in Angry Mood.

Mr. Keliher warmly declared that he had voted for the Fitzgerald resolution because he believed it was the right thing to do, and did not regard himself as having been bound by the action taken by the Democratic caucus in declaring that the old rules should remain in force for the extra session and not be revised until December. Mr. Keliher was pretty indignant. He asserted that the whole trouble with the Democrats in the House was that too many of them were from the South and they would never accomplish anything until more Northern Democrats were elected to Congress.

The "bolters," as the Democrats term their fellows who at the last hour voted with the Republicans to save Cannon, have been roundly hissed by the insurgents. There were hisses from the Democratic Representatives when the announcement was made that Fitzgerald of New York would go on the Committee on Rules.

There were more hisses when it was anounced that Francis Burton Harrison of New York and Robert P. Broussard of Louisiana had been appointed as minority members of the Ways and Means Committee.

Broussard was one of three Democrats who stuck by the Republican organization in the bitter contest. Harrison voted with more than a score of other Democrats to sustain the resolution which Fitzgerald offered.

The hisses and catcalls heard when the names of Fitzgerald, Harrison and Broussard were anounced expressed in small measure only the feeling against them by a majority of their Democratic associates.

Foods Shot from Guns

Quaker Puffed Wheat 10c. Quaker Puffed Rice—13c.

They are made by this curious process: The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into bronze metal guns. The guns are sealed, then revolved for an hour in a heat of 550 degrees.

The heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes terrific. Then the guns are fired. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles. The kernel of grain is expanded eight times. It becomes porous and crisp. Yet the coat is unbroken; each kernel is shaped as before.

Sold by grocers everywhere.

BRITAIN IN PANIC OVER NAVAL STATUS

LONDON, March 17.—Consternation, mingled with national terror and dismay, laid heavy hands to-day upon the House of Commons.

Not for a century, not even in the darkest days of the Boer war reverses, has such a feeling of real cold fright settled down upon the ministers of England as possesses them to-day.

In the plainest language he could command, Premier Asquith laid the naked truth before his hearers who sat around him on the upholstered benches, stricken dumb with dismay.

No more fooling about the situation. Out came the startling facts right from the lips of the prime minister himself.

"England has lost her grip as 'Champion of the Seas'!

"The two-power naval supremacy upon which England has been depending for her national security—indeed, for her very life—has been wrested from her by Germany!"

Hard Pushed by Kaiser.

It was no irresponsible player-to-the-galleries who uttered these fateful words, which five minutes later had stunned almost to dumbness every thinking man and woman in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Asquith's message, spoken by himself, to the country that the two-power standard was gone and that at Germany's rate of progress England is already pushed hard to maintain a one-power supremacy.

When the Premier concluded his startling speech the members sat in silence. They had just heard the worst ministerial declaration since the days of Napoleon.

Former Premier Balfour rose after some wait and made an impassioned speech in which he bitterly attacked the admiralty for its policy of economy.

"For the first time in modern history we are face to face with a naval situation so new and so dangerous that it is difficult for us to realize its import.

"We now know," said Mr. Balfour, "for the first time that by 1912 Germany will have 21 Dreadnoughts to Great Britain's 20."

What this portends, every man in Great Britain is bitterly aware.

The debate, just begun, will be continued to-day by the Irish members and the British labor representatives. Parliament may be said to be in a state of panic, for a cabinet crisis may be heard of at any hour.

CHURCH SPLIT DUE TO PASTOR'S DIVORCE VIEWS

NASHUA, N. H., March 17.—Rev. Joseph E. Montgomery has decided to leave the Arlington Street Methodist Church, his resignation coming after a series of rows which cost the church many active and influential members. The split in the congregation was caused by troubles growing out of the pastor's refusal to marry a teacher to a divorced man.

There has been disruption in the church for some time past. It is alleged that Mr. Montgomery objected because one of the members of the choir, Mrs. F. A. Whidden, a prominent soloist and a woman of considerable talent as a vocalist, was permitted to sing. He is claimed to have requested the choirmaster to ask her to resign, and when the choirmaster declined the minister did it himself. As a result the entire choir refused to sing.

A number of the choir members left the church and others followed until there was no choir and no organist. Matters continued worse until Mr. Montgomery has decided to withdraw from the pastorate.

The pastor declined to marry a woman, Miss Mildred Thomas, who was a Sunday school teacher in the church, because she was to marry a divorced man. Matters in the church have reached such a state that the first Sunday in April Rev. Mr. Montgomery will preach a sermon to his parishioners on this subject.

B. AND M. TIEUP BARS NEW ROAD

The inability of the Boston & Maine railroad to handle more freight is the reason given by the New York Public Service Commission for refusing a charter to the proposed Buffalo, Rochester & Eastern railroad. The commission states that the proposition has as its fatal weakness "the entire lack of eastern terminal connection; lack of earning power necessary to make it a financial success, so essential to those of the public who might be induced to invest in its securities, and finally that the applicant has not shown sufficient financial ability to finance a $100,000,000 proposition."

The commission in its opinion shows that the Boston & Maine, sole eastern railroad connection, in the full tide of business of 1907, was unable to take care of the business offered it by its western connections, and that this inability was one of the causes of congestion and delay in the business of that year upon railroads in New York State.

BOARD OPPOSED TO ONE-MAN POWER

The Committee on Cities has decided to report leave to withdraw on the bills presented by Mayor William P. White of Lawrence to abolish the offices of assistant engineers of the fire department and to overturn the pauper department and vest its control in a board of charities to be appointed by the Mayor. That the two measures sought "one-man power" in too great a degree for the public interest is the belief of the legislative committee. Mayor White did not even want the referendum attached to his bills.

HONOR ST. PATRICK BY FLAG-RAISING

In commemoration of St. Patrick's Day the members of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Literary Society of Roxbury held a flag-raising to-day. Young Millionaire to Enter Stock Exchange in New York City.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Russell Griswold Colt, who married Ethel Barrymore in Boston, Sunday, has made arrangements to enter the Stock Exchange firm of H. L. Horton & Co.

The senior member of the firm, H. L. Horton, is a personal friend of Colonel Samuel P. Colt, president of the United States Rubber Company, and father of the bridegroom.

It is understood that the entrance of the junior Colt into the firm was decided upon some time before the marriage.

Latterly, Russell Griswold Colt has resided in Boston, but he will come to live in this city and will become an active partner in the firm about the middle of April, or at any rate, by the first of May.

GILCHRIST DISPLAY SHOWS BEST STYLES

Winter's over now. There may be a few short gasps of the cold season, but it's time for women and girls to turn their thoughts to suits and millinery in keeping with the coming months. At its great Spring opening the Gilchrist Company has made a display that contains ample suggestions for everyone. The display was first exhibited yesterday. It is continuing to-day and will all day to-morrow.

The most exquisite importations of Paris millinery are shown from Reabeaux, Carlier, Felix, Lewis, Barnheim, Doucet and Gerhardt. The latest braids from France, Germany, Austria, England, China and Japan are a notable feature of the display.

The Gilchrist millinery department today reveals the latest styles and devices, and they're fresh from Europe. Every one of the Paris masters of millinery is represented with some masterpiece.

The dress goods display is the best the Gilchrist Company has ever made, and that's saying a great deal.

CARDINAL'S TRIBUTE TO SONS OF ERIN

A number of eloquent expressions of St. Patrick's Day sentiment are found in the tenth anniversary number of the Hibernian, published in Boston, which appears to-day.

Cardinal Gibbons writes: "The greatest glory of the sons of Erin is that they are so deeply loyal to their religion and to the country of their adoption."

"The golden glory of a better day is dawning," writes James C. Monaghan. "The work of Burke, Gratton, O'Connell, Parnell and Redmond is to be rewarded. The rich harvest of seeds sown by the patriots of the past is almost ready for the reaper."

"In adherence to religious and racial fidelity lies the road to continued and more abundant honor. Let this be the significance of St. Patrick's Day," is the sentiment of Charles S. O'Neil.

To all of which George H. Sheehan, editor of the Hibernian, adds: "It is the Irishman who does something for God, country and himself that is a factor in the progress and upliftment of the race. Action is the thing that counts in these days of activity."

SINGER SUED FOR SILVER LOVING CUP

Notification was received to-day from New York by Harry Cooper, who is playing at Keith's Theatre, to the effect that action had been brought against him for the recovery of a silver loving cup which Cooper claims to have won in a singing contest at Sulzer's Harlem Casino last week.

"We sang our song, 'Good Luck, Mary,'" says Mr. Cooper, "and there was no doubt but that it was the favorite one. When the judges could not agree it was suggested that we leave the decision to the audience, and the different singers went out, much the same as they do on amateur night. When our quartette appeared the applause was deafening. There was no doubt as to the way the audience felt in regard to 'Good Luck, Mary,' and we received the loving cup. It is now in my possession. As near as I can learn, the present action has been instituted by Seymour Furth and Grace Cameron, who had a song, 'If Every Girl Was a Girl Like You.' I, however, shall defend my title in the courts."

WOMAN DIES FROM BURNS

As the result of the burns received when a lighted lamp which she was lifting from a shelf dropped to the floor, Mrs. Kate Monahan, 49 years old, of No. 75 Hudson street, died early to-day at the City Hospital.

Mrs. Monahan and her husband, Dennis Monahan, were visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Monahan, at No. 130 Minden street, Roxbury. Mrs. Monahan had just lighted a lamp and was about to place it on a table, when it slipped from her hand, fell to the floor and exploded. The burning oil ignited her clothing. Despite the frenzied efforts of her husband and his sister to extinguish the flames, she was badly burned.

SUN SOON DISPELS THE RAIN AND SNOW

Evacuation and St. Patrick's Day is being treated with just any kind of weather. But the elements seem to be holding the best for the last, and that has thrilled South Boston with hope.

At 5 o'clock this morning a rain was falling. It was cold and bitter, and went through to the marrowbones.

An hour later a snowstorm was pelting down, and soon the ground began to look like Christmas instead of St. Patrick's Day.

Later the snow turned to drizzle and finally quit. By 9 o'clock the sun had come out and was shining, with promise of a radiant day for the big celebration on the peninsula.

The official forecast was for "Fair and warmer; to-morrow, fair and somewhat colder."

GRAND OPERA SEATS AT $2 GO IN HURRY

There has been such an avalanche of requests for $2 seats for the Manhattan Company's season of grand opera at the Boston Theatre that the management announces that the tickets have been greatly oversubscribed and that no more for this class of tickets can possibly be entertained.

There are still some good $3 and $5 seats, but they are going rapidly.

CHALONER SET FREE, RUFFIAN DIES IN FIGHT

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 17.—John Armstrong Chaloner, once Chanler, a brother of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler of New York, has been held blameless for a strange killing. Chaloner recently changed his name.

In a desperate struggle for the possession of a revolver between Chaloner and John Gillard, a powerful Englishman, at the Chaloner home near here, last night, Gillard was killed by a shot from the weapon.

Chaloner had entered his dining room to find Gillard beating Mrs. Gillard with a pair of tongs. The woman's assailant was raining savage blows on her head, and would have had her life within a moment or two. The people of this section are unanimous in praising Chaloner for his courage in unhesitatingly entering an unequal combat to protect a woman, mother of seven children, and poor to destitution. The family of children witnessed the death of their father.

Chaloner's Strange Career.

The tragedy adds one more dramatic episode to Chaloner's strange career, in which is blended with it romance, love, madness, intense hatred of kinsmen, and a probably unparalleled battle in the courts of several States for a legal decree restoring to him the rights of a sane person.

The romance had its ending in a divorce by Amelie Rives, the novelist, now the wife of Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, Russian artist; because of incompatability of temper.

Gillard, given to drink and violence toward his family, had been a pensioner of Chaloner, because of pity for the wife and helpless children. Only recently his benefactor had notified him that he would be given a mule, in order that he might earn more for his family.

Gillard's home is two miles distant from the Chaloner house. It was notorious in the community that he habitually maltreated his wife and children. Mrs. Gillard had appealed several times to Chaloner, who had talked with her husband about his drinking and his evil nature.

Chased Wife Into House.

Chaloner, the master of "Merry Mills," was entertaining a guest, Ernie G. Money, when Mrs. Gillard and her children, the oldest a boy of fourteen, were admitted to the dining room by a servant. They were announced, but Chalnor lingered a while upstairs with his guests. Meanwhile Gillard, in pursuit of his wife, forced his way into the house and into the dining room. Wild with drink and rage he seized a pair of heavy tongs and began beating his wife over the head. Alarmed by the screams of the woman, her children and the servants, Chaloner and Money ran down to the dining room.

Gillard was holding his wife by the hair, meanwhile striking her again and again. The woman was covered with blood. Chaloner, his guest, and a colored man servant grasped the madman, while Chaloner begged him to desist in his murderous attack. Gillard, powerful and frenzied, fought so desperately that the three men were all but exhausted and were hardly able to hold him.

They finally pressed him to the floor, his arms and legs pinioned by their hands. The colored servant was sent for a rope with which to bind him. Chaloner had brought down a revolver, and as Money held the winded giant he stood by with the revolver hoping to intimidate him.

Struggle for Revolver.

Before the servant could return, Gillard broke from Money, sprang upon Chaloner and grasped the revolver. Intent upon murdering his wife, he tried to bring the weapon in line to fire it at the terrorized woman. As Chaloner and the maniac struggled for possession of the revolver, it was discharged. Gillard fell dead, shot through the heart.

No one, even Chaloner, appears to know who pressed the trigger, so fierce and close was the struggle, but Mrs. Gillard says she is quite sure that her husbadn sent the missel through his own heart.

At the inquest Mrs. Gillard and her oldest son testified for Chaloner. The woman showed many wounds from the murderous beating.

She testified that her husband had declared he would kill her.

Since the day when he fell in love at first sight with the beautiful and brilliant daughter of Colonel Rives, whose estate adjoined his in Albemarle County, the life of Mr. Chaloner has been one of almost constant storm and stress. His fight for what he believes to be his rights is without precedent in this country. From apparently hopeless beginnings four years ago it has reached a stage where victory now seems in sight.

DEATH THREAT TO AVENGERS OF PETROSINO

ROME, March 17.—With incredible boldness the members of the Mafia have issued a warning to any other American detective who may come here to complete the work begun by Lieutenant Joseph Petrosino, who was assassinated.

This death warning follows close upon the heels of a report that other detectives will come from the United States, and not only carry on the work commenced by Petrosino, but bend their energies to ferret out the slayer of the New York detective.

Placards bearing the gruesome escutcheon of the Mafia have been circulated and posted in prominent places. Notices bearing the insignia of the deadly organization have been sent into the newspaper offices. In the face of this avalanche of warnings and threatening letters the police seem powerless.

The Italian Government has rushed its best detectives and secret service men into Sicily to aid in the hunt for the Petrosino assassins. The entire island is being patrolled, and all are working in harmony with the Palermo officials, but so far without result.

Petrosino Aide Slain.

Palermo has another Mafia mystery which appears to be closely identified with the assassination last week of the American detective, Lieutenant Petrosino.

The body of a well-dressed man, frequently seen with Petrosino, was found in a grove on the outskirts of the city. He had been slain with daggers. Two of these daggers were sticking in his breast.

Their hilts, handsomely engraved, bore dogs heads, the emblem of the Mafia.

It this is true, it plainly establishes that [illegible] possessions were in his pockets. All that had been taken, apparently, were such articles as might reveal his identity.

"That man was an acquaintance of the slain American detective," asserted several persons who looked at the body at the police offices.

Was With Slain Sleuth.

Two witnesses were found who declared they could swear they had seen the man walking with Petrosino on one of the main streets of Palermo a few hours before the detective was slain.

If this is true, it plainly establishes the killing of Petrosino was done by the Mafia. The Mafia kills not only its enemy, but also every one who might have an opportunity to avenge him.

It developed to-day that Petrosino, on his return from Catalneistia, was carrying a small valise, which he took with him to the restaurant that he last visited. This valise cannot be found. The police believe it contained important documents.

BOSTON MERCHANTS GET DEATH NOTES FROM BLACK HAND

During the past few days members of the Black Hand Society have been sending threatening letters to well to do Italians in the North and West Ends, and inspectors and plain clothes men from headquarters have been secretly working throughout the lower end of the city in an effort to run down the writers.

One of the most recent cases is that of Leonardo Squillaciote, a banker and liquor dealer of No. 39 Clark street, who received a letter demanding $1,000 in money, which he was instructed to leave on the top floor of No. 13 Margaret street.

Joseph Seminara, a baker of No. 34 Charter street, also received letters instructing him to take $200 to a certain place, and when he failed to do so he received another letter threatening his life.

Antonio [illegible], of No. 54 Causeway street, a fruit dealer on Hale street, a fruit dealer on Chambers street and a number of other business men have also received letters of a similar craracter.

Handwriting experts who have been working on the letters are of the opinion that they all originated from the same source. It is also the belief of the police that the writers of the letters are the men who attacked Rev. Fr. Francis Leberti in East Boston.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the American.

THOUSANDS CHEER AS SOLDIERS MARCH TO BANDS' MARTIAL AIRS

years. Stores, public buildings and private houses everywhere looked gay in their bunting and flags. The green of Ireland, too, showed that St. Patrick's Day was being celebrated almost hand in hand with the civic aniversary.

By 1 o'clock band music was heard from almost every quarter as the different organizations which were to march, began to converge on the streets where the parade was to start.

Thousands Along Line.

As the bands and the different military commands moved toward the streets where they rested until they wheeled into line at the command of Chief Marshal Lieutenant Joseph P. Galvin, Ninth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, thousands of spectators who had delayed gathering along the line of march hurred to where they could get good places to see the pageant. Many carried national or Irish flags.

Intense enthusiasm prevailed as the big military parade started forward at the sharp word of command at 2 o'clock. At 1:45 every command was in position, for this was a military parade, and everything went like clockwork.

The sailors and marines, above everyone else in the line, won the "hand" of the crowds as they tramped along like so many animated machines. The long drill of the cruise around the world which they had just completed plainly showed in the perfection of discipline and formation as they moved through the streets.

Chief Marshal Galvin, Major-General Davis, Congressman O'Connell, Mayor Hibbard, the city and State officials and the members of the South Boston Citizens' Association reviewed the parade at Edward Everett square where it disbanded.

The route of the parade was as follows:

Route of Parade.

Started at Broadway and Dorchester avenue, Broadway to P street, thence to Sixth street, to G street, I street to Fourth street, to G street, around Thomas Park on Dorchester Heights to G street, to Fourth street, to Dorchester avenue, to Columbia road, to Edward Everett square, wher the parade disbanded.

The big military parade disbanded at 4:15 and at 4:30, from the D street gymnasium, a ten-mile cross-country will be run.

More bells at 6 o'clock to-night.

At 7:30 in the D street gymnasium a series of handicap athletic events will take place. At 8 a band concert in Marine Park, City Point, will conclude the outdoor events of the big day.

Athletic Program.

The cross-country run begins at the D Street Gymnasium at 4:15 o'clock. The route is from the gymnasium to Third, to L, to Second, to Marine Park, to Strandway, over Columbia road bridge, to Edward Everett square, to Boston street, to West Broadway to the gymnasium.

At 7:30 the athletic sports take place in the gymnasium. There is a 20-yard handicap, a runing hop, step and jump, a running high jump, and team races open to Boston athletes.

A 20-yard scratch race is open to South Boston contestants alone.

The officials are: Referee, Frank H. Briggs, M. I. T.; timers, Frank Kanaly, M. I. T.; Joseph Conway, C. G. A.; John Roberts, C. G. A.; judges at finish, Carl D. Bernstrom, M. I. During the day in countless homes in South Boston open house is the order of the day. This afternoon and night the following clubs are open to their friends: Douglas, Tammany, Tiger, Tillman, Madison Associates, Tudor and the South Boston and Mosquito yacht organizations.

The students of Boston College will present Shakespeare's "Hamlet" again on Easter Monday night, April 12. This time it will be given under the auspices of the Boston College in St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, corner of Norfolk and Harvard streets, Dorchester. This club was formed over a year ago, and its members are comprised of men who have either graduated from or attended Boston College. Dr. Eugene A. McCarthy, who is president of the club, has announced that "Hamlet" will be produced for the benefit of the new Boston College fund, and it is expected that a goodly sum will be obtained from the play.

INVALID SAVED FROM DEATH BY WOMAN

PROVIDENCE, March 17.—Mrs. Maxwell Cowan of No. 254 Transit street nearly lost her life from gas asphyxiation. Two women who live in a down-stairs tenement dragged her out of her flat after breaking down the door to reach her.

Mrs. Cowan, who is an invalid, found that she was suffocating and attempted to rise. She fell from the bed, thereby arousing the women down-stairs, who went to her assistance.

FIX GARMENTS FREE, DIMOND TELLS DEALERS

M. Maurice Dimond.

"Alteration of garments free, though a heavy expense to a firm, is simple justice to a customer. When you advertise a garment at such and such a price you virtually guarantee that article to fit.

"Seventy-five per cent. of the women who come into our store are entirely different from the models upon whom the manufacturers cut their patterns.

"Why should a woman, who, through no fault of her own, has an imperfect figure be obliged to pay for the fitting of a garment?

"Custom forces many merchants to make a charge for alterations. I say it is an imposition and should be abolished."

These were four points sharply brought out by M. Maurice Dimond of Providence, at the debate of the New England Dry Goods Association on the questions:

Banquet and Debate.

"Resolved that customers should pay for alterations on all garments in the ready-to-wear departments."

The debate was held at the American House following a banquet. For the affirmative: Louis W. Rosskopf of the Almy, Bigelow & Washburn Company of Salem, Maurice McBride of the R. H. White Company and Frederick Phipps of the A. Shuman Company. For the negative, M. Maurice Dimond of Providence and Arthur Levy of the Shepard Norwell Company.

Continuing his argument, Mr. Dimond said:

"A premium of 25 cents should be given upon each suit that a saleswoman sells without an alteration. This encourages the saleswoman to look carefully before making a sale and eliminates the dreadful feature of putting a 36 garment on a customer and selling it with an alteration when a 14 or 16 misses' garment might have fitted.

Demands of Women.

"When a woman buys a suit, she wants it to fit her, and should she be expected to pay extra for the kernel of the whole transaction? Manufacturers have been making suits long enough to know the proportional and average sizes of women patrons.

"The argument has been advanced that to advertise alterations free is inclined to cheapen the house and to keep away a better class of trade. We know this is untrue when the proper kind of advertising is done. If advertising in the paper that caters to a thrifty laboring class, it would be well to say in advertising simply 'Alterations Free.' This means a saving to you of $2 to $3 on a garment."

SHERIFF'S MEN CLASH; 'TWAS ALL A MISTAKE

Deputy Edward Kelly, who is in charge of Charles street jail in the absence of Deputy Sheriff John Kelly, to whom was intrusted the duties of office in the absence of Sheriff Seavey in January, to-day made a novel explanation of the altercation which started at the jail last week when Deputy Sheriff Daniel Cronin sent Deputy Paine of the Superior Criminal Court to the jail to read an indictment to a prisoner charged with murder.

"The whole thing was a misunderstanding," said Edward Kelly. "When Sheriff Seavey went away he delegated John Kelly to serve papers during his absence. Cronin did not know this, and when he sent Paine to the jail to read an indictment objection was made since it was essentially Kelly's duty to do this work. The point was insisted, however, and rather than have any friction he was permitted to serve the papers. Later on all parties concerned came to a mutual understanding."

70,000 POUNDS OF CODFISH IN 2 DAYS

Captain Joe Mesquito and his crew of the schooner Frances P. Mesquito are being congratulated on the biggest two days' catch of codfish ever known at T wharf. Leaving Boston Friday, they arrived on Georges Bank Saturday, and early Sunday morning set their trawls. The fish fairly swarmed into their nets. All day long they rowed and set and hauled aboard. By torchlight that night they handled over the day's catch of 35,000 pounds of codfish, and resuming work early Monday morning they duplicated the catch of the day before. At daylight Tuesday they set out for the Boston market with 70,000 pounds of codfish and 1,000 pounds of halibut, not only the record two days' catch, but representing the hardest two days' work in the experience of those aboard.

HAD SALT RHEUM FOR FOUR YEARS

Began Like a Ringworm on Hand—Though Treated, Washing Irritated It and It Spread Over Arm and Face—Kept Growing Worse.

CURED TWO YEARS AGO BY CUTICURA

"A little over six years ago I had a sore come on my hand. I consulted a doctor. He told me it was a ringworm. It kept on getting worse so I went to another doctor. He called it salt rheum. I kept on taking his treatment for some time but every washday my hand would break out and be worse. It continued to spread till it got over my whole hand and up my arm, also on my face. I suffered with the disease about four years when a friend of mine told me to try Cuticura. I got two cakes of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. When I had used them up, I was cured and I haven't seen the least sign of the humor since. Mrs. Linda Winslow, Wyalusing, Penn., July 13, 1908."

FACE BADLY BRUISED

And Cut by Fall. Now Healed without a Scar by Use of Cuticura.

"On January 31 I fell from a wagon, landing on my face and head against the curb and gutter. I was about the worst looking person that ever had a face. After about two hours' careful washing I got the blood stopped and the dirt off and my face pretty well covered with Cuticura Ointment. You may know that I was pretty well skinned up by the fact that both lips were cut inside and out and the skin on my nose and both cheek bones cut. Part of my face was healed over in a week and the scales came off and while the cheek is still sore there are no marks to prove that I was ever scratched. I would also say that I use the Cuticura Soap for shaving and my face is always soft. W. H. Dean, Newark, Del., February 24, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. WOMAN WRITES CALL TO WOMEN TO RALLY FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S WOMAN SUFFRAGE REFERENDUM.

[Women only may vote.]

I FAVOR GIVING WOMEN THE RIGHT TO VOTE

NAME ....

ADDRESS ....

I OPPOSE GIVING WOMEN THE RIGHT TO VOTE

NAME ....

ADDRESS ....

Cut out and send this ballot to the AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street. Every woman should urge her women friends to vote.

Agnes E. Ryan, A. B., of Winthrop, a member of the College Equal Suffrage League of Massachusetts, declares the day will come when every man and woman now opposing rights for women will be ashamed of their opposition to the rights of the fair sex. In "A Call to Women Everywhere," written for the BOSTON AMERICAN, she urges women and girls to get away from old ideals and consider the advantage to be gained at the ballot box.

By AGNES E. RYAN.

Women and girls, wives, mothers, sisters, daughters, at home or in business, think! Think this day what you do! If in the AMERICAN'S contest, or Woman Suffrage Referendum, you vote against suffrage for women, do you know what you do? Among other things, you line up with the chronic opponents of women's progress not in America alone, but in every country of the world. You join the ranks of the men and women who would have opposed the entrance of girls into public schools, into colleges, into the professions (teaching, for instance), and into business (stenography, for instance), on the ground that education and work with the brain is unwomanly, does not bel[illegible] to woman's sphere, and is dangerous to the welfare of society.

Now, as sure as this cause of woman suffrage is marching on all over the civilized world, this is where you stand if you show yourself indifferent by not signing the accompanying ballot or if you record yourself as opposed to this movement to allow women to express intelligent opinions on matters that concern them, their children, their homes, in a way that counts in a community that respects women.

You will live to see the day—and right early—when every man and woman who opposed woman suffrage will be as ashamed of their former attitude as they would have been had it recorded them as opposed to the abolition of slavery, liberty of conscience, property rights, higher education.

Let Who Dare Deny It.

Life—the best life possible in this best of lands for women and children and men—is what woman suffrage stands for. Let who dare deny it!

To think lightly of this cause, the cause of Lucy Stone, Mary A. Livermore, Julia Ward Howe, Alice Stone Blackwell, Alice Freeman Palmer, Frances E. Willard, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Anna H. Shaw, Florence Nightingale, Louisa M. Alcott, President Mary E. Woolley, President M. Carey Thomas, Mrs. Florence Kelly, Mary Kenny O'Sullivan, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Maude Ballington Booth, Harriet Martineau, Susan B. Anthony and Jane Addams, is as mad as it would have been to ridicule the rock-bottom purposes of Abraham Lincoln, William Lloyd Garrison, or Charles Sumner.

IMMIGRATION STATION A PERIL

Max Mitchell of the Associated Jewish Charities told the Mothers' and Fathers' Club at the Twentieth Century Club last night the immigration station at Boston was a menace and a disgrace, and in case of fire would be a danger to the men and women confined in it.

Mr. Mitchell brought into the discussion the traffic in white slaves. He told of the means employed in stamping out the traffic and then said that the fund bequeathed by the late Baron Hirsch was being used to put a check on this traffic. Mr. Mitchell urged the members of the club to consider and promote the landing of immigration at Southern ports, such as Galveston, Texas, on account of the already crowded conditions of the Eastern cities and also because the tide of immigration now setting westward made additional expense to Eastern charity workers in forwarding the immigrants to Western places.

TICKETS ISSUED FOR COLLEGE DEBATE

Tickets have been issued to-day for the annual prize debate of the Marquette Debating Society of Boston College, which will be held in Boston College Hall, James street, on Wednesday evening, March 24. This society is the junior society of the college, having members in it only from the sophomore and freshman classes.

The question for this debate is: "Resolved, That the Federal Government is justified in restraining the California Legislature with regard to the discrimination against the Japanese." The affirmative side of the question will be taken by Francis J. Low '11 of Wakefield and Michael Flanigan '11 of South Lawrence, while Thomas Flynn '11 of Ashland and Edward M. McDonough '11 of Malden will uphold the negative side of the question.

The tickets are complimentary, and those desiring them can obtain them at Boston College or from any student of the college.

SHEATH GOWN GIRL DISTURBS BROKERS

NEW YORK, March 17.—Thousands of people jammed Wall street, near Broad, just after the close of the stock market when an unknown woman, young and beautiful, appeared on the street garbed in the Parisian sensation—a sheath skirt.

The crowd followed the woman for several blocks. She finally eluded them by darting into the Mills Building at No. 15 Broad street. Shortly after she jumped into a taxicab and was whisked away.

Beautify Your Complexion at Home

A Simple Toilet Preparation That You Can Prepare Yourself.

The following face wash, now in almost universal use among Parisian women (and their matchless complexions attest its efficacy), will restore clearness of skin and delicacy of tint to the plainest of complexions if applied daily:

Rose Water, 2 ounces; Cologne Spirits, 1 ounce; Eppotone 4 ounces. Put the Eppotone in a pint of hot water (not boiling), and after dissolved, strain and let cool. Then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits.

It is quite an easy matter to mix the ingredients according to above directions, and can best be done at home. It costs so little and accomplishes such a decided improvement on the skin, that it should be a requisite on every lady's dressing table. If this wash is used the plainest complexion will take an immediate and decided change for the better, and the powder puff and rouge jar can be relegated to the closet.

POOR ROADS DELAY WESTON

NEWBURGH, N. Y., March 17.—Edward P. Weston, after an eight-hour rest at Fishkill, left at 6 o'clock this morning. His schedule names Hudson as to-night's resting place.

Weston completed the second day of his walk to the Pacific coast at Wappinger Falls. He began the day at Tarrytown, but the bad roads which he encountered have put him slightly behind his schedule, which called for his reaching Poughkeepsie. He hopes to make up the lost distance to-day and plans to sleep in Hudson to-night.

DENIES MRS. EDDY PUT BAN ON CRITIC

The following letter was received by the BOSTON AMERICAN:

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

In your issue of yesterday you published a New York dispatch which alleged that Rev. Mary Baker Eddy had issued an edict barring Christian Scientists from reading an attack upon Christian Science which had been issued by a New York critic.

Upon investigation I find that Mrs. Eddy does not even know that such an attack has been made, much less has she given it any attention.

Mrs. Eddy has not at this time, nor at any other time, given out an edict to her followers prohibiting them from reading the criticisms of Christian Science. Yours sincerely, ALFRED FARLOW.

TEN DIE IN FIGHT IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, March 17.—A band of hostile Moros attacked Lieutenant Furlong's detachment of constabulary at Bordong. After a sharp fight eight Moros and two members of the constabulary were left dead on the field, while two soldiers and one civilian were wounded.

A company of the Twenty-fifth Infantry and a detachment of scouts have gone to the aid of Furlong's forces.

The day after the fight a constabulary soldier deserted, after stealing five rifles.

FAINTS IN COURT, HUSBAND CONVICTED

Mrs. John J. Turphy rose from her chair with a shriek and fell in a dead faint to-day in the first session of the Superior Criminal Court when a jury brought in a verdict declaring her husband guilty of attempting robbery. Court Officers McDonough and Tracy caught the woman just as she fell. She was carried to an anteroom, where for a half hour the officials tried to revive here. Then doctors from the Relief Hospital failed, and it was necessary to take the woman to the hospital before she could be restored to consciousness.

City Hall Notes

There is no half holiday for city employees to-day. The order passed both branches of the City Council, but Mayor Hibbard did not affix his signature to it, nor has he ordered department heads to grant time off to the men.

Walter I. Mason of No. 255 Massachusetts avenue and Augustus Russell of No. 20 Downing street, Roxbury, have been appointed house officers at Deer Island by Commissioner Skinner. They will receive $480 per year.

The new fireboat, which has just been completed, will be christened on Saturday morning with appropriate exercises. Mayor Hibbard will be master of ceremonies.

The street cleaning and watering in the Brighton district will be done by the T. J. Shea Company. They were the lowest of seven bidders, with a figure of $8,530 and $5.50 for watering carts.

Ex-Deputy Superintendent of Sewers C. R. Cutter is still at work on the annual report. He was removed early in February, and C. Barton Pratt placed in charge of the division, Cutter being kept upon the payrolls, according to an understanding, until he could finish the yearly report of the division.

All of the South Boston department heads have open house to-day. City Treasurer Slattery entertains many employees of the municipal building and City Messenger Leary also officiates as host.

GIRLS WHO TAKE PART IN K. OF C.'S MINSTREL SHOW

MARY A. COLLINS
MRS. AGNES COLLINS.
MARY SULLIVAN.

A cluster of pretty girls who can sing, dance and make "beautiful eyes," will take leading parts in the minstrel performance to be given this evening under the auspices of the Pere Marquette Council of the K. of C., in St. Augustine's Hall, South Boston. The performance will be under the direction of Henry P. Casey and Grand Knight Dr. George A. Sullivan will be the interlocutor.

Six lively ends, Joseph F. O'Brien, Susie Gallagher, Nat Prescott, Frederic Sheehan, Margaret Lambert and Michael J. Casey, have catchy songs and a fund of jokes, and they are expected to produce numerous laughs at the expense of prominent members of the council. The balladists will be Theresa Dunlap, Alice M. Dunne, Edward H. Lally and Representative Frank L. Colpoys. The male soloists will be assisted in their songs by a double quarter, Thomas J. Scannell, Bert McArdle, P. Joseph McMahon, Edward H. Lally, John G. O'Malley, T. Frank Nicholson, Thomas V. Cotter and John Nichols.

One of the features of the first part will be the tambo girls, "The Ebony Belles," Elizabeth C. Hogan, Florence G. Brady, May Daly, Lucy C. Killea, May Hughes, Agnes Collins, Dolly McGregor and May A. Brown. The first part will conclude with a patriotic final, the soloist being Joseph Callahan, while members of the council will be dressed to represent characters that were prominent in American history.

Director Casey has arranged four attractive singing and dancing sketches for the second part. The Dutch, or "Yip-I-Addy-I-Ay," sketch will be led by Della Finnegan of Dorchester; the Harvest Moon number by Nat Prescott and Josephine Callahan; the Spanish dancing sketch by Miss Marguerite Gallagher, and the Sullivan sketch by Joseph F. O'Brien. P. Joseph McMahon is chairman of the minstrel show committee.

YOUNG BATES GIVES AEROPLANE TRYOUT

NEW YORK, March 17.—The report of a secret and successful flight of the new Carl Bates aeroplane near Daytona, Fla., reached here today, and experts in aeronautics predict great things for the machine in public exhibitions in connection with coming races. The machine rises in the air with its inventor and sails away in any direction with apparently no limit to the evolutions.

Young Bates is a Chicago boy and he built every part of the machine himself, including the ten horse power engine. He has patterned his aeroplane something after the model of the Wright brothers' machine but insists that he has a better steering apparatus.

DRAPE HORSES AS TRIBUTE TO ANGELL

That the teamsters of Greater Boston attach black rosettes to the harnesses of their horses on the day of Dr. Angell's funeral as a tribute to the work of the great humanitarian, is suggested by Dr. Charles T. Buck of No. 195 West Brookline street.

The exact date of the funeral of Dr. Angell had not yet been decided upon, though it will be held either Friday or Saturday.

EX-ALDERMAN TO BE TRIED FOR LARCENY

Ex-Alderman George H. Hattis, charged with the larceny of $36 and $298.25 that had been appropriated by the city of Boston for July 4 celebrations in 1906 and 1907 respectively, will be brought to trial before Chief Justice Aiken in the second session of the Superior Criminal Court tomorrow. Summonses for witnesses were issued this afternoon under direction of District Attorney A. D. Hill.

MAXINE NOW ENTERS LIST AS SUFFRAGETTE

NEW YORK, March 17.—"I am a born suffragette. Indeed I would like to enter the fight to get votes for women. It is absurd for men to declare that they are supreme."

This statement was made to-day by Maxine Elliott before she sailed for England on the steamship Mauretania. Miss Elliott is going to London to appear in a new play, but she wasn't half as interested in the play as she was in the suffrage question.

"I was born a suffragette," she said, "for the reason that suffragettes stand for freedom and I was born free. I do not think it right that two thirds of the human race before they are born, should be deprived of a common right—the right to vote. This is exactly what men are subjecting women to.

"Women have been robbed of their right to vote through a custom that existed in prehistoric times. In those days men ruled by brute force. Woman, being weaker physically than man, was looked upon as having no brains.

"But the days of brute force have passed. The ballot rules now, and it will not be very long before women will have the right to vote. It is a noble struggle that is being waged by the Suffragettes. They are going to win. I am with them heart and soul."

NO TRACE OF MAN WHO SHOT STUDENT

YARMOUTH, Me., March 17.—The officers found no trace to-day of Carroll D. Rich of Lynn, Mass., who last night, it is alleged, after exclaiming, "I've got you this time," placed his arm over the shoulder of Joel Kelsey of Freeport, a student at North Yarmouth Academy, and, aiming a revolver at Kelsey's heart, fired one shot, which lodged in the latter's left arm. Rich is twenty-eight years old and Kelsey is eighteen. The shooting was said to have been due to jealousy, in which a woman figured.

In Lynn the police have failed to find anyone by the name of Carroll D. Rich. The name does not appear in the city directory, and a canvass of the families of that name was without result.

DAUGHTER GETS BULK OF $500,000 ESTATE

The will of Mrs. Sarah B. Whittemore of Brookline, who died February 7, was allowed for probate to-day. The estate comprised $11,300 in realty and $500,000 worth of personal property. Amos L. Hopkins of Williamstown was named as executor. The bequests were as follows: Church of Our Saviour at Longwood, $5,000; Association of Work of Mercy, $5,000. All the rest of the property was left to the daughter, Miss Ethel M. Wentworth.

GEORGETOWN BALL CAPTAIN IS DEAD

WORCESTER, March 17.—Joseph A. Courtney, aged twenty-three, son of Jeremiah F. Courtney of this city and captain of the Georgetown baseball team, died this morning at a Washington, D. C., hospital from pleuro-pneumonia. His mother and sister were at the bedside when he died. His class was 1909.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The Inter-Insurance bill has passed the Missouri Senate after a bitter fight by the old line companies. A companion bill was favorably reported by the House.

CHICAGO—A new complication has entered into the Ella Gingles case by the probable paralysis of the girl's lower limbs. The girl's friends argue that this is sufficient proof that her injuries in the bathroom of the Wellington Hotel were not merely superficial ones inflicted by herself.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Stricken dumb when she learned that her fiance had married another, Miss Belle Raum of No. 424 Harrison street, seventeen years old, has not been able to speak a word since. Her physician, Dr. J. S. Heiman, attributes her loss of speech to hysteria, and this morning she was in a state of coma.

SAN FRANCISCO — Lieutenant-Colonel Charles G. Woodward, inspector general of the Department of California, has returned from an inspection tour of the forts and posts in Honolulu. Lieutenant-Colonel Woodward says that rapid progress is being made in preparation for the construction of fortifications in Pearl Harbor.

DANVILLE, Ill.—Judge Wright of the Federal Court has decided to refuse naturalization papers to William Strong of Westville, a member of the United Mine Workers of America. Judge Wright said: "I can never grant the right of citizenship in the United States to any man who follows the dictates of his trade union rather than the laws of our land."

LOS ANGELES—At a meeting of persons representing the charitable associations and institutions of Los Angeles, a resolution was adopted asking all charitable associations of the United States to refrain from sending any more consumptives to Los Angeles. ORANGE, N. J.—Abraham Cohn, a young hat worker of New York, was attacked and beaten by a crowd which boarded a trolley car on which he was going to the shop of Berg & Co., hat manufacturers here, where a strike is in progress.

LOS ANGELES—In the San Jacinto mountains, near the edge of the Coachella valley, B. F. Bond of Long Beach has just made California's most important archaeological discovery. Ruins of a prehistoric city containing over 700 well-preserved stone houses, evidences of having streets, strange earthen ware of fine types, and the general aspect of the place show it was no mean community.

WAGE CUTS IMPEND ALL OVER COUNTRY

NEW YORK, March 17.—For the first time since its organization in 1901 by J. P. Morgan as the billion dollar steel trust, the United States Steel Corporation is to make a cut in the pay of its workers.

The reduction, according to admission by a high official in the trust, is to range from fifteen to twenty per cent., affecting all the company's plants and those of all its subsidiaries. It is to embrace every boy and man in the service, excepting only the most highly paid executive heads.

In all, an army of more than 240,000 wage earners will suffer.

The cut, according to present plans, is to go into effect on April 15. It is five to ten per cent. greater than that made by the independents at the beginning of the rate war between them and the trust. It was practically decided upon last week.

In fact, it was the sole topic of discussion, it is said, at the meeting held at that time in the office of the trust in this city between the heads of the various subsidiary concerns and those of the trust proper.

Knows What Congress Will Do.

In Wall Street it is believed that the trust, with its strange power of discovering in advance the action of the United States Government, has learned the intentions of the men who control the people's representatives in Washington and has taken steps accordingly.

Last week from Pittsburg it was announced that the trust had decided to pare the salaries of the many hundreds of what is called its "fat jobs," and in many cases to abolish them altogether by dismissing the present incumbents and putting in their places men, not quite so expert perhaps, but who would work for much less. By this means it hoped, it was said, to effect a saving of $1,500,000 to 2,000,000 a year.

Fear Opposition Trust.

The explanation of the decision to spare in the general wage retrenchment the very highly paid executives was that those men might enter the employ of some independent or aid in the formation of some dangerous rival combination.

John W. Gates, it is known, has long harbored a desire for revenge on the trust for, as he believes, forcing him to surrender his holdings in the now famous Tennessee Coal & Iron Company at the time of the recent panic, and he, it is said, is of the opinion that the time for attempting to retaliate has arrived.

Other Concerns Cutting.

Local labor leaders have received official notification from Max S. Hayes, a Cleveland labor man, that the Eastern Pig Iron Association has decided upon a ten per cent. reduction in the pay of 75,000 puddlers.

Dispatches from Detroit contain the following announcement:

"Following the statement by big Pennsylvania steel companies that a cut in the wages of the employes is to go into effect this month, President Sink, of the Reading Iron Company, said that the wages of his 2,000 employes will suffer at the end of this month a cut of 7½ to 15 per cent., according to the various departments."

President Croxton, of the Cleveland Furnace Company, said: "A reduction of the wages of all iron workers in the Cleveland district is inevitable, but will be postponed as long as possible."

Official announcement was also made that the American Locomotive Company had begun reducing the wages of its employes. At the Schenectady plant not only have wages been reduced, but the plant is being worked only one-third of its capacity, although it has contracts sufficient to warrant the employment of a full force.

TEN PER CENT. CUT IS ANNOUNCED BY PENN. STEEL CO.

LEBANON, Pa., March 17.—A general cut of ten per cent. in wages in all departments of the Pennsylvania Steel Company's plant at North Lebanon is announced for April 1. It affects all local employes, numbering about 600. No notices of a reduction have been posted at the Lackawanna Iron & Steel plant here.

IRON AND STEEL WORKERS DECLINE TO ACCEPT CUT

READING, March 17.—The national officers and delegates to the Eastern District of the Amalgamated Iron, Steel & Tin Workers' Association, have decided not to accept the proposed reduction in wages by iron manufacturers of this section. The following statement was made by James B. Mincher of Reading, vice-president of the Eastern Division:

"The Eastern manufacturers never advanced the wages of the iron workers when market conditions warranted it. We can see no difference between maintaining what we have now by contest and contesting for it afterward. Market conditions do not warrant a reduction."

The bi gaddition to the works will mean an increase in the working force, and will give employment to 250 more hands.

WARE EXPECTS TO GET GREAT BOND ISSUE

George L. Ware of Boston, in a statement issued today, says that he is confident that he will be awarded the $80,000,000 bond issue of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, because he feels that his proposition will be the best offered to the directors of the company. He will forward his proposal to the company on March 24, and the next day give it to the press. The keynote of his campaign is publicity. Mr. Ware's statement follows in full:

"I do not intend to be present at the annual election by the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which is to be held in Philadelphia on Tuesday, the 23d inst., neither do I intend being represented by counsel at that meeting.

"The result of the stockholders' meeting on March 9 was a victory for the principles for which I am contending. After Mr. Storey had made his motion and given the reasons on which the motion was based, President McCrea said: 'I approve of the admirable and clear presentation of Mr. Storey's views. They will be considered by the incoming directors and given the attention they deserve.'

Men of Great Ability.

"My stay in Philadelphia was a most agreeable one. Shortly after my arrival, I had the pleasure of an extended conference with President McCrea, and after the meeting on the ninth, Charles E. Ware, Moorfield Storey and I were the guests at luncheon of the president and directors in the directors' room in the Broad Street Station. Not only from report, but from personal observation, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are able, high minded and honorable men, anxious to discharge to their fullest ability the trust confided in them by the stockholders of the road.

"As men of affairs, it is needless to say that they are conversant with the unfortunate features connected with the allotment of the Pennsylvania 4s in 1908, and as able merchandisers there is no question that they welcome the prospect of keen competition for the goods, securities shortly to be sold by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

"Of course there is no question that a bond issue will shortly be made. The money market is easier than it has been for years, and as soon as the tariff bill is agreed on, business will be better than it ever was. Money will be in active demand for commercial uses, and rates of interest will go higher. Consequently, the Pennsylvania railroad has absolutely nothing to gain by delaying a bond issue under present conditions.

Publicity Is Keynote.

"On the 24th of this month I shall forward to the president and Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company the proposition which I shall ask them to consider in connection with the forthcoming bond flotation. At 6 p. m. on Thursday, March 25th, I shall give my proposition to the press. The keynote of my campaign has been publicity. I believe that, in connection with the flotation of an issue of $80,000,000 of securities of the greatest railway system in the world, the American investor is entitled to judge for himself as to the merits of the question. I am absolutely confident that I shall be awarded the bonds, simply because I believe that my proposition is the best that will be offered the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

"One word to 'the Street.' 'The Street' is asking who my associates are. Of course, I have associates. No man of my age, unless he inherited a colossal fortune, could handle a proposition of this kind alone; and consequently I hereby give 'the Street' all the information that it is fairly entitled to.

"When, in answer to a call for bids for the pending issue, I send in, accompanying my bid, a check, it will be the certified check of George L. Ware; and after the bonds are awarded me, and the same are advertised in the press, it will be over the signature of George L. Ware; moreover, after the allotments have been made, and the bonds are taken up, they will be paid for with the certified check of George L. Ware."

WOMEN TO COLLECT HIGH BACHELOR TAX

TRENTON, N. J., March 17.—Assemblyman Miller of Essex introduced a bill here to-day to tax all bachelors, the measure providing for the creation of a board of women in each taxing district to collect the revenue. His scale of taxes runs something like this: Ordinary bachelors, $5 per year; Essex County bachelors, superfine, $10; bachelors with long hair, blue eyes and whiskers, $25; ex-Governors remaining bachelors after July 4, 1909, $100; bald-headed and red-haired bachelors, the minimum tax herein authorized, because their bachelorhood is presumably involuntary; bachelors on the Governor's staff and members of the Legislature who shall remain bachelors after April 1, 1910, $250; good-looking bachelors, uniform tax of $62.50.

To one-half pint good whiskey, add one ounce syrup sarsaparilla and one ounce Toris compound. Take in teaspoonful doses before each meal and before retiring. Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it, as well as the other ingredients, can be had from any good druggist. This recipe is never-failing. Leading specialists prescribe it.

WALL ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

WALL STREET, New York, March 17.—The insensibility of the market to news influences is its foremost characteristic. The stocks which might be supposed to have most at stake are the dullest stocks at the moment, and one or two low-priced or inactive stocks which have much less at stake are agitated.

To make the matter more concrete there has never been a time since the Amalgamated Copper Company was formed when there was greater latitude for conflicting opinion on the part of those who seek to anticipate conditions in the stock's movements, and there has seldom been a time when Amalgamated Copper stock was so immovable as now. You can neither bull it nor bear it—at least, traders find it so, and it has come to a point where news seems to make not the slightest difference.

$ $ $

The report of the Railway Commission of Virginia on the application of railroads to increase the passenger fare from two cents to two and a half cents a mile attracted much attention because of the startling change of tone as compared with official utterances common a year ago. The commission said that the roads should be permitted to advance the rate to attract capital to the State. The commission expresses opinion that the decrease in business of companies in Virginia has been owing largely to the reduction of rates and the consequent inability of corporations to earn an adequate return on capital invested. The proposed increase will mean about 1 per cent. on the stock of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, and will insure a permanent 4 per cent. dividend.

The purchase of Santa Fe common emanates from the company's financial sponsors makes no difference. It is a time-honored tradition that a corporation may boom its old values for a little while to make prospective fresh values look more attractive. The amiable humbug is understood by everybody, yet it is none the less effective for the time being. There was no official announcement regarding what Atchison purposed putting out. All the street heard was that more bonds might be offered, and even this remained unconfirmed.

$ $ $

It can be stated that the Atchison will issue $26,000,000 convertible bonds. This is part of the authorized $98,000,000, of which $26,000,000 already are on the market. The assumption is that the proceeds of the $26,000,000 to be marketed will be used to build a road from Texico to Brownwood, Texas. Last year the Atchison completed tracks from Albuquerque to Texico. The span from Texico to Brownwood will fill a long gap and connect with the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, which runs to Galveston.

$ $ $

The Gulf line is owned by the Atchison, and the completed connection gives the system a direct route from Galveston to San Francisco. The company has practically rebuilt the line from Wellington, Kan., to Mexico on a double track basis. The property from Chicago to Oregon has been brought to the standard of perfection, and it is estimated that present outlying facilities will provide a 25 per cent. increase in traffic. To the close of the fiscal year there had been put in improvements and betterments $53,000,000, an amount equal to 50 per cent. of the common stock. If the present ratio of earnings continues to the end of the fiscal year, net receipts will approximate $36,000,000.

$ $ $

The impression prevails that a large portion of the copper purchased in the latter part of February and the early part of March has been thrown on the foreign market. Another unfavorable feature is an increase in stocks abroad. There have been persistent reports that copper producers were preparing to curtail production, but it is said that the Amalgamated is not interested in such a movement. The Amalgamated, according to reports, will go on producing regardless of prices of production.

The United Metals Selling Company is practically out of the market. Consumers are not bidding for copper, despite the fact that prices are very close to the cost of production of many copper mining companies.

$ $ $

Cobalt Central declined on a report that the directors could not agree in regard to paying the next dividend. Some of them want to put the money into improvements instead of paying it to the stockholders. An official promise has been made that this dividend will be paid, and Cobalt Central must pay it or lose its standing. Its directors are in exactly the position of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit directors after they made a positive promise of a dividend, and even though they have to pay it out of their own pockets the Cobalt Central directors should make good.

Gold arriving in London yesterday from New York was taken by the joint stock banks instead of by the Bank of England as usual. This calls attention to the fact that the banking position in London never is as strong as it apparently seems to be from the Bank of England's reports. The Bank of England carries the gold reserve, as a rule, for all the joint banks, and it is doubtful whether even in panic times the banks of New York City ever carry such a low reserve as the London banks carry under practically all circumstances. The same gold coin figures at the same time in as many as a dozen banks in England, and the movement to have a real reserve in the joint stock banks is along the line of conservatism recently adopted by New York State when it forced the trust companies to carry their reserves in their own vaults.

BOSTON MARKET WEAK AND QUIET

There was an increased volume of trading on the local board at to-day's opening. The tone was irregular and developed weakness.

Copper shares sold off generally, Amalgamated, North Butte and Copper Range showing the most liquidation.

United States Steel common was sold for account of New York. Arbitage issue were bought, indicating short covering.

The miscellaneous list was quiet and with practically no changes.

About noon a steady tone was maintained, trading being quiet.

WALL STREET STOCKS STRONG

By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Semiofficial announcement that E. H. Harriman would leave Los Angeles for the East to-morrow gave additional strength to the stock market to-day. The list in Wall street showed a cut gain in the early trading in spite of general losses reported from London.

Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Smelters, Amalgamated Copper, "Big Four," Wisconsin Central, preferred, and Steel were the features. Mr. Harriman is preparing his yacht for a trip to Panama. This announcement is considered of great importance to Wall street, as it proves his good health. The pamphlet report of the Steel trust for the year ending Dec. 31 was published and the showing of losses in earnings was disheartening to the street.

The gross earnings were $482,307,840, which compares with $757,014,768 in 1907. Net earnings were $91,847,710, against $160,964,674 for the previous year. After deducting the preferred and common stock dividends and also all other charges there was a surplus left of $10,342,987, against $15,179,837 in 1907.

On the curb Cobalt Central was a centre of activity, the stock declining to 38 cents on reports that the dividend would be passed. As officers of the company promised a dividend, the report that they may break their promise has upset the market for the stock. Ohio Copper was a strong fature, rising to the new high level of 8¾. Kerr Lake, Nipissing and La Rose were strong, regardless of the predicament of Cobalt Central.

Publication of the changes in the tariff caused the general list to sell off an average of nearly one point. Trading was very dull and the general opinion of brokers in Wall street was that the changes had been about what was expected and that already had been discounted in the market. There was a fractional rally from the low point touched after publication of the changes.

DRY GOODS MEN THINK TARIFF HIGH ENOUGH

Speeches by Lincoln Steffens, who warned business men against allowing graft to creep into their enterprises; by Henry C. Long, on "The Commercial Development of Boston"; by J. C. B. Smith, in favor of allowing the proposed Boston & Eastern Railway to run into Boston, a report by a committee unfavorable to an increase in tariff rates and a debate on, "Resolved, That customers should pay for alterations on all garments in the ready-to-wear department," were the features of the meeting of the New England Dry Goods Association last night at the American House.

The debaters for the affirmative were Louis W. Rosskopf of the Almy, Bigelow & Washburn Company of Salem, Maurice McBride of the R. H. White Company and Frederick Phipps of the A. Shuman Company. For the negative, M. Maurice Dimond of the Houghton & Dutton Company and Arthur Levy of the Shepard Norwell Company.

Immediately after the debate Chairman Fitzpatrick reported for the tariff committee. He said in part:

"We believe that in general the Dingley tariff now in force is high enough to afford ample protection to manufacturers and a generous scale of wages to their employees."

WANT CONTEST IN 10,000-MILE NON-STOP RUN

By J. C. KERRISON.

Whether the little Maxwell shall proceed on her 10,000-mile non-stop engine run alone or shall have one or more competitors is to be determined to-day. It had been intended to start this test during the show week, but owing to the desire of the touring committee of the Bay State Automobile Association to make it a competitive test the start was deferred. On Monday night Messrs. Tyler and Kesley, representing the Maxwell interests, had a meeting with the committee, when the rules were gone over. It was determined to give the committee opportunity to secure competitors, since several of the other dealers in town had evinced an interest in the same. Some six cars other than the Maxwell were mentioned, and so Messrs. Tyler and Kelsey determined to give the committee until to-day to secure entries, failing in which the Maxwell will start immediately. Should other contestants be secured a sufficient length of time before the start will be allowed other interested parties in which they can complete arrangements and get everything in shape for the test, which will unquestionably last between twenty-one and twenty-five days.

It was determined that in this test no car should do more than thirty-eight miles in two consecutive hours, and that 450 miles should be the greatest mileage covered within twenty-four hours, infractions of that provision meaning the disqualification of the car, no matter how well the same may have performed so far as all other conditions were concerned. Mr. Kelsey is remaining in Boston until the final decision regarding contestants is made known. Mr. and Mr. Tyler will agree to any reasonable delay if others desire to enter the contest, otherwise the Maxwell will be started either this evening or to-morrow morning.

In future endurance contests held in this section the speed regulations will be strictly enforced. It is possible that a new special clause will be inserted in the rules, this clause to read somewhat like this: "Each car shall be equipped with a standard speedometer and each observer shall watch the same. When it is shown that a car is exceeding the speed limit of the territory through which it is traveling the observer shall immediately disqualify the driver and the car be declared out of the test." This will prevent overspeeding and meet the requirements of the law as well as serve the best interests of the motorists.

The Automobile Club of France got out of its failure to run the Grand Prix with a loss of only $800. Natives whose land had been rented for grand stands, etc., protested at the abandonment of the race, and certain villages spoke of suing for damages. The matter was settled, however, by the payment of $800 to the organizing committee, to be distributed as an indemnity to those persons who had actually entered into an agreement to rent their land. Medals will be granted to all commissaires who acted at the last Grand Prix races, and, this accomplished, the Commission Sportive has practically ceased business for a year.

New ideas in bodies combined with stock chassis appear in places, one of the interesting novelties of this sort being a toy tonneau body, with seating capacity for four persons, fitted to a six cylinder Alco chassis of 60 horse-power. The combination sounds more odd than it appears, for the car presents a compact and handsome rakishness suggestive of great power and speed and comfort.

This model has been bought by Percy Dewey of Dewey, Gould & Company. Another interesting combination is a car bought by R. Robinson, 2d., consisting of a six-cylinder Alco chassis fitted with a close coupled body. This car was ordered by Mr. Robinson for use on hunting and camping trips. He has had a deck built to cover the rear after the seats are removed and in the space beneath the deck he carries his camping and hunting outfit. It is made so that he can remove the deck at night, crawl into his sleeping bag and use the compartment as a bed.

Watching a Stomach Digest Food

Was the Means Whereby Science Made Possible the Cure of Dyspepsia.

The Abbe Spallanzani was the first scientist to study systematically the chemical powers of the gastric juice, but it was by the careful and convincing experiments of Beaumont that the foundation of our exact knowledge of its composition and action was laid.

Beaumont was an army surgeon, located at an obscure military post in Michigan, while it was yet a territory, and was called upon to treat a gun shot wound of the stomach in a Canadian voyageur—Alexis St. Martin. When the wound healed a permanent opening was left by means of which food could be placed in the stomach and gastric juice taken from it.

Beaumont made scientific experiments with his crude means and wrote a book which to-day is recognized among the classics of physiology.

Beaumont blazed the way for other scientists, so that to-day medicine knows what the stomach does with food and what food does to the stomach.

Science also knows what the gastric juices are and how to make them best for the system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, thanks to the poor army surgeon and Alexis St. Martin, give man a means of digesting food, replenishing the exhausted juices, soothing the nerves and correcting dyspeptic conditions of the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are natural fruit and vegetable essences reduced in concentrated form and by tremendous power compressed into a tablet. These wonderful little digestors are known all over America and Canada. Full meals have been digested by them in glass tubes and they are sold by every druggist.

Physicians to the number of 40,000 use them. They are meritorious and powerful. Go to your druggist and buy a package to-day, price 50c, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. H. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COPS HOTFOOT IT TO BANK AT BURGLAR CALL

Ting-a-ling-ling! Ting-a-ling-a-ling!

Ringing out loud, clear and insistent, the bell sounded at 8:30 o'clock to-day. It called from the Commonwealth Trust Company Building, at the corner of Summer and Devonshire streets. And it was a burglar alarm.

Summer street, crowded with men and women, hurrying to their work, was in a hubbub in a moment. The alarm carried as far as the South Station, leaping through the air with C. Q. D. import and reached the ears of at least five policemen.

From various sections of the city the five bluecoats hotfooted it to the bank. They reached the entrance about the same time.

"Burglars!" cried one of the men.

"Yes, burglars," responded another. "Be on your guard. Take no chances."

The bank officials had just arrived and had opened the front door. They stood about with pale faces.

The five cops entered in a body.

"Where are the p-a-p-e-rs, I mean vaults?" asked one of the blue-coated officials.

"In the basement," said a bank attache through chattering teeth.

"Forward," commanded the cop in charge in a low, determined tone.

They invaded the basement. They searched every nook and cranny.

Nothing doing!

The vaults were all right, the money was all right, the whole thing was all right with the exception of the burglar alarm.

"I guess the wires got crossed some way," said the bank official electrical expert when he reached the scene.

"Foiled!" cried the sleuths, as they wended their several ways back to their points of patrol.

GREAT BARGAINS AT SIEGEL OPENING

Unusual bargains are offered at the annual Spring opening of the Henry Seigel Company department store, Washington and Essex streets. One of the finest displays of ladies' headwear, waists, costumes, shoes and gloves, as well as neckwear for men, has attracted thousands of Boston shoppers to the windows on the Washington street side of the building.

This year the buyers for the ladies' department have secured high-grade tailor-made suits and imported costumes. Black crepe meteor dresses, showing new empire effects, costumes for evening wear, made from latest material of the mousselaine type, including the three-piece costume in fine French serge, and evening capes and coats, strictly tailor-made garments for street wear, can be seen.

In the millinery department, known as the "French parlor," on the second floor, is a magnificent display of Easter hats.

The ladies' department of the concern, also on the second floor, is fitted out with up-to-date waists with fancy touches of coloring, light blue with Irish crochet predominating for trimming the season's waists. There are also a large number of French tailor-made imported waists in all colors for general wear.

PUTS UNION ABOVE NATION; CAN'T VOTE

DANVILLE, Ill., March 17.—Judge Wright of the Federal Court has decided to refuse naturalization papers to William Strong of Westville, a member of the United Mine Workers of America. When asked "If it came to the point that the union and the laws of the United States differed which should you follow?" Strong answered: "The union, of course."

Judge Wright says: "I can never grant the right of citizenship in the United States to any man who follows the dictates of his trade union rather than the laws of our land."

COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY JUNE 19

The Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., president of Boston College, has announced that the annual Boston College garden party will be held at University Heights, Newton, on Saturday, June 19. Because last year's garden party was so successful, it is expected this year will net a far greater sum on account of the great number of people who have become interested in the college within the last year.

Boston Society Beauty Bride of Young Diplomat

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

It is more the exception than the rule when a fashionable wedding takes place during Lent, but a wedding did take place yesterday, and it was a fashionable one. It was that of Miss Susan Alexander McCook, a sister of Mrs. Malcolm D. Whitman of Brookline, and Peter Augustus Jay, first secretary of the American embassy in Tokio, Japan. It took place in New York, in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, and was attended by many Bostonians.

Miss McCook is well known here, where she has spent considerable time with her sister, and attended many of the smartest dances throughout the Winter. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Dr. Maitland Alexander, and was followed by a reception at the beautiful McCook residence on West Fifty-fourth street.

The wedding would have been among the Easter events but for the fact that Mr. Jay is obliged to return immediately to his post in Tokio.

The bride's only attendants were her sister, Miss Martha McCook, and Miss Harriet Alexander, a cousin.

The ushers, many of whom were Boston men, included William Phillips, son of Mrs. John C. Phillips of Boston and Washington; Malcolm D. Whitman, brother-in-law of the bride; John Saltonstall, Nicholas Biddle, Charles D. Draper, Duncan Harris, Cyril Hatch, Robert Livermore, Bayard Cutting, Moncure Robinson and Andrew R. Sargent.

Mr. Jay is the older son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Jay of New York, and a descendant of John Jay, first chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. Before going to Japan he was charge d'affaires in Constantinople. He is a Harvard '00 man and during his course at college figured conspicuously in the doings of the smart University set. Mrs. John Junius Morgan of London is a sister of the bride.

On Saturday night of this week the 1912 men of Harvard, classmates of Kermit Roosevelt, will give a handsome dinner in his honor as a farewell prior to his leaving college to go with his father to Africa. Ex-President Roosevelt has been invited to attend.

The men who have the affair in charge are William Coombs Codman 3d, Ralph Lowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowell, and John Heard, captain of the Harvard shooting team of the 1912 men.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Thayer (Ruth Simpkins) are to take a cottage at Newport again the coming Summer. Mrs. Thayer, who is one of the handsomest and most distinguished of Boston's society women, made a great success of her Newport season last year, giving some of the most lavish of the Summer's hospitalities.

The younger members of the North Shore Summer colony are rejoicing over the news that Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson (Grace Jarvis), who were married in Washington last month, are to spend the Summer at Manchester with the young bride's grandmother, Mrs. McMillan, with whom she made her home before her wedding. Mrs. McMillan has left Washington and is spending a few days at the Plaza in New York.

Former Secretary of State Robert Bacon and his daughter, Miss Martha Bacon, and Miss Faith Simpkins have arrived at Aiken, where they are to remain for several weeks.

Mr. Paul Chute has issued cards for a studio at home in the Boylston Chambers on March 23, which promises to be a decidedly novel affair. There will be dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The Speakers' Club of Harvard University will present "The Romancers," by Edmond Rostand, in Brattle Hall, Cambridge, April 3, for the benefit of the Cambridge Hospital League. There will be informal dancing after the play.

Among the society women and girls of the University City who are to act as patronesses are Mrs. James J. Greenough, Mrs. Arthur E. Kennelly, Mrs. Edward C. Moore, Mrs. William A. Neilson, Mrs. Bliss Perry, Mrs. Benjamine L. Robinson, Mrs. Joseph B. Russell, Mrs. F. H. Sleeper, Miss Edith L. Thayer, Mrs. Joseph G. Thorp, Mrs. Eugene Wambaugh, Mrs. I. L. Winter, Miss Delia Dana, Miss Laura Greenough, Miss Amy De Gozzaldi, Miss Mary Sanger and Miss Amy Thorp.

"Princess Chrysanthemum" is the interesting title of the Japanese operetta to be given in Brattle Hall, Cambridge, on the evenings of March 22 and 23 for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society and the Domino Club. Mrs. Alice Bowditch Hopkins will take the part of the Princess and George Ralph Bunker and Walter Collishaw will play the roles of her ardent admirers, Prince So Tru and Prince So Shi.

The patronesses for the entertainment include Mrs. Rufus Williams, Mrs. J. G. Thorp, Mrs. William Taggard Pipes, Mrs. Byron S. Hurlburt, Mrs. Charles Peabody, Mrs. Walter Wesselhoeft, Mrs. Charles F. Whiting, Mrs. Lewis J. Johnson, Mrs. John Graham Brooks, Mrs. Alvin Sortwell, Mrs. C. H. Bonney, Mrs. Daniel Evans, Mrs. Austin C. Wellington, Mrs. John D. Little and Miss Caroline Humphrey.

MAN BREAKING FROM JAIL BY ORDER OF U. S.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Francois Louis Boissanade, a French lion tamer, several months ago gained his freedom from one of the almost subterranean cells in the keep at Ellis Island by surreptitiously sawing through the heavy iron bars with saws made of three table knives.

He is again at the task. If he can duplicate the feat under the eyes of the guards, who have instructions not to interfere with him, but to keep strict watch on the time he is engaged in the task, Commissioner of Immigration Watchhorn will recommend his release.

The strange and dramatic test, in its sombre setting, is all too real to Boissanade, who claims that, unaided, he performed it before. He is working desperately for his freedom.

It is also very real to Commissioner Watchhorn. It is a test of the honesty of the trusted guards in the Ellis Island house of detention. He will not only recommend the release of Boissanade, if he is successful in the test, but has promised him $5,000 besides.

Should Boissonade fail, an investigation will be begun to determine how he effected his escape during the first term of his imprisonment on Ellis Island.

TROOP IN PURSUIT OF CUBAN REBELS

HAVANA, March 17.—The first armed uprising against the new Cuban republic occurred within a little more than six weeks after the inauguration of General Gomez as President. A sergeant of the rural guard stationed at the town of Vueltas, in Santa Clara Province, with a party of seven men, some other members of the rural guard and a number of peasants, took to the woods, and the troops are in active pursuit.

While the movement apparently is unimportant numerically, all indications point to the fact that it is part of a widespread conspiracy. All the participants in the rising are reported to be Liberalists of the Miguelista faction, among whom it is known there has recently been widespread dissatisfaction over the distribution of offices.

OPERA STARS TO APPEAR IN SINGER'S SUIT

NEW YORK, March 17.—Famous singers of the Metropolitan and Manhattan Opera Companies are to be subpoenaed, it is understood, in the forthcoming action of Mrs. Elsa Neumann de Gogorza for a limited divorce from Emilio de Gogorza, the operatic baritone.

Efforts will be made, it is alleged, to prove through their testimonies that a sentimental and aesthetic interest has existed, and still exists, between Mme. Emma Eames and de Gogorza.

Whether or not these subpoenas have been served could not be learned at the offices of Benno Loewy, counsel for Mrs. de Gogorza, to-day. Mrs. de Gogorza was in conference with her counsel, Benno Loewy, and it was learned to-day that she was indignant at the imputation of friends of Mme. Eames and de Gogorza that she had brought the action for alimony and counsel fees and contemplated the suit for separation with the idea of worrying her husband.

Gives Wife's Story.

She was even more indignant, it is said, that the friends of Mme. Eames dared to allege that she was using the name of the diva as a club to force her husband to come to terms.

"The truth of this affair will be disclosed at the courts at the proper time," said a friend of Mrs. de Gogorza to-day. "Mrs. de Gogorza is not suing for an absolute divorce. I do not know that she has any grounds for such an action, even if she desired to institute such proceedings.

"One thing is certain, however; Mrs. de Gogorza feels that she has been cruelly wronged and abandoned by her husband, and with such a belief in her mind she has dtermined to secure a separation.

Mrs. de Gogorza has preferred no charges against Mme. Eames. She has, however, in her replying affidavits and in her original affidavits and complaints in the action for alimony and counsel fees, expressed her belief that her husband not only has never been the same toward her since Mme. Eames cam into his life two years ago, but that since that time he has treated her harshly and has withheld the financial support due her.

Replies Filed With Court.

"The friends of Mme. de Gogorza understand that counsel for the defence will attempt to prove that the association existing between Mme. Eames and de Gogorza is purely of a business nature, that at no time did it even tend toward a platonic friendship.

"If such a contention is made the plaintiff believes that the court action will prove conclusively that the association between Mme. Eames and de Gogorza was of both sentimental and aesthetic interests."

Replying affidavits of Mrs. de Gogorza have been submitted to Justice O'Gorman. Copies were also served, it is understood, upon J. Campbell Thompson.

Not a Once-a-Week Dish

Don't regard Van Camp's as a once-a-week dish, like your heavy home-baked beans. Van Camp's are delicious, nutritious and cheap. Serve them often

The habit of serving beans once a week grew out of the old-fashioned methods of baking them.

In the first place, it took one-sixth of a week to soak and boil and bake them.

Then the beans when done were mushy and broken. They were crisped on the top and half-baked in the middle. The dish was not very inviting.

The beans were also very hard to digest. They would ferment and form gas. Thus, in most homes, this choicest of foods came to be served once a week.

It's very different with Van Camp's.

These beans come to you fresh and savory, ready for instant serving. No work, no waiting.

They come to you nutty, mealy and whole. No beans are crisped, no skins are broken, for we don't bake in dry heat.

And Van Camp's are digestible. They don't ferment on the stomach. You get the whole of their food value.

Beans, to be digestible, must be baked in live steam, heated to 245 degrees.

They must be baked in small parcels, so that the full heat of the oven is applied to each bean.

Otherwise the particles will not be separated so the digestive juices can get to them.

Home ovens use dry heat. The top beans are crisped by it, but the beans farther down rarely are heated above 100 degrees. That's why the beans don't digest.

Van Camp's are baked as they should be—baked in live steam and in small parcels. The tomato sauce and the pork are baked with them.

Beans are 23% nitrogenous—84% nutriment. Even meat has a lesser food value, though it costs several times as much.

Beans form the ideal food when so baked that one gets the whole of their nutriment.

They are delicious and yet economical. People don't tire of them. When you serve Van Camp's you will find that your folks never get beans too often.

Van Camp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

We pay $2.25 per bushel for beans, while some cost but 30 cents. Our tomato sauce costs us just five times what commonplace sauce would cost

We buy only the choicest Michigan beans. Then we pick out by hand the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown. All but the best are discarded.

Our tomato sauce is made from whole, luscious tomatoes that were ripened on the vines.

Cheap sauce is made from tomatoes picked green. The cheapest is made of scraps from a canning factory. But such sauce lacks all our richness and zest.

So it is very important, in buying beans, that you insist on getting Van Camp's. No common brand will meet your expectations, after all we have said.

Three Sizes: 10, 15 and 20 cents per can.

BOSTON BOY BEATS ENGLISH CHAMP

Joe Bowker Proves No Match for Delmont

WHAT THE FIGHTERS SAY OF THE BOUT

By Al Delmont.

I WENT into the fight with every intention of winning if it was in me. It was about time that I made good in my own town and I knew it would have to come. I trained faithfully for the match with Bowker and was satisfied that if I lost it would not be on account of lack of form.

I expected to find Bowker harder game and was surprised that he slowed up. I tried my best to win decisively when the chance came, but could not quite connect. Bowker is a good, clean fighter and can hit hard, but I think I had it on him in speed, and there is where I came out ahead of him.

By Joe Bowker.

I AM sorry I put up such a disappointing fight. I was beaten, but I was beaten by a better boy. I did not train as I should have, for I felt so well that I thought my condition would carry me through, but I saw my mistake after we got to going and could not respond to the fast work. I haven't fought for eight months, and that might have made some difference. I have learned a hard lesson on my first appearance in America in the matter of training and won't be caught again in the same way. I wish the bout had been twenty rounds. I was beginning to like it.

Little Albert Delmont completely outclassed Joey Bowker, the world's bantam champion, in their twelve-round bout at the Armory A. A., beating the English lad in every department of the game.

Never did a local lad perform with greater satisfaction for his admirers, and it is to be regretted that he can't claim the title, as the boys weighed in at 122 pounds, which was a lucky thing for the holder of the trophy.

While Delmont proved beyond a doubt that he had Bowker's number from the start off, much to the surprise of the talent, the exhibition of gameness by Bowker was marvelous.

He knew he was beaten and yet kept fighting, and even on the verge of being knocked out, stuck to his colors and pulled through to the end by holding on to his grit.

Bowker Was Game.

Such recuperative powers as Bowker displayed was a rare sight to those who gazed on the eleventh round, in which the Englishman nearly went down to a decisive defeat. Floored three times for the count with Delmont rushing him every time, he rose to his feet, collected his scattered senses and mechanically fought Delmont back till the bell came to the rescue.

It was the wonderful strength of the Briton which stood by him in the desperate occasion. Built like a small Samson, with powerful muscles all over his body, he was able to take a lot of punishment without showing signs of distress, but his development was a handicap to him, as it was evident that he acted muscle bound and tied up, which made him an easier victim for Delmont.

It was a sad showing for a champion. Clumsy on his feet, poor at measuring distance and stiff in all his movements, there was no comparison with such classy boys as Driscoll and Moran. It was just the reverse with Delmont, who had everything at his command, and never wasted a blow throughout the encounter.

Delmont Took Lead.

So rapidly did Delmont come to the front in the early stages that the odds switched from two to one to even money in the fourth round, and before half the distance was covered the home boy was forging ahead as the favorite.

Formidable as the stocky Briton appeared, Delmont hit the pace up to the top notch as soon as the signal came for action, and he never flagged a bit in his determination to carry Bowker off his feet. He found that he could beat the foreign visitor easily enough with his trusty left, and kept it shooting into his face, which caused Bowker to break ground continually. Delmont, by this sign of weakness, gained in confidence, and rushed in, taking chances at landing the damaging punches which began to tell on Bowker, by the way he slowed down.

As a cool proposition, Bowker is a star. He was never at a loss when under the greatest pressure and, his funny smile, which broke out on his expressionless face when he foiled Delmont in some of his mad rushes, showed how he enjoyed his own craftiness, at the expense of his rival.

Condition Counted.

At the end of the mill Bowker in a speech said he was sorry to make such a disappointed showing in his first fight in this country, but blamed himself for lack of proper training.

But what Bowker failed to do in preparation does not detract one bit from Delmont's clean-cut victory. He had his campaign all mapped out, and followed his lines to perfection. He had a wise bunch of handlers behind him, something the Britisher lacked, and the combination worked well.

There was no hesitation on Delmont's part when the first bell rang. He took the fight in his own hands, not waiting to see what style Bowker was going to use against him, and it proved to be the right kind of dope, for Bowker was unable to match Delmont in his speed and cleverness, being obliged to depend entirely on the force of his punch, which was dangerous at first, but gradually lost its effectiveness.

Hard Blow to Bowker.

Bowker felt the sting of defeat keenly, as he was anxious to make a better impression in his debut, but knowing that he can do better, he was not disheartened, blaming himself entirely for his downfall.

Two of the three preliminaries resulted in draws, so evenly were the boys paired off. George Alger of Cambridge met Ralph Tickle of Pawtucket in the semi-final of eight rounds, and they had a heated argument in every session. Tickle moved along well for four rounds, when Alger got into his stride and scored often with his left, wearing Tickle down. Young Mulkern of South Boston and Joe Burchell, both pretty raw in the game, went six rounds, and a sealed verdict was announced, as the referee couldn't see where either deserved any medals.

There was considerable interest in the bout between Noah Perry, the ex-newsboy, and Max Baker. Perry was slow and failed to get going till it was up to him to do something or take a defeat, and by rushing Baker managed to get an even break.

Y. M. C. A. MEN IN ANNUAL GAMES

The sixth annual indoor handicap games of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held to-morrow under the auspices of the State Physical Department at the Newton Y. M. C. A., Newtonville. Many association athletes are in training for the events and if records are not posted the officials will be disappointed. Some sterling men have been developed by some of the branches of the organization and the games will likely be all close.

Roy Welton, the Lawrence Y. M. C. A. long distance runner, famed because of his excellent showing in the Olympic Marathon run at London last Summer, will race three opponents in a ten-mile run. One of Welton's antagonists will be Welden of the Somerville Y. M. C. A. The other events on the programme are:

Twenty-yard dash (scratch)—High jump, handicap; 600-yard run, handicap, limit 30 yards; putting 12-pound shot, handicap, limit 10 feet; three standing broad jumps, handicap, limit 4 feet; potato race, scratch, and relay race.

LANGFORD FIGHTS JIM BARRY TO-NIGHT

Boston's champion middleweight, Sam Langford, gets a chance to exercise himself to-night for the first time since his return from the coast, when he boxes Jim Barry over in Philadelphia at the Washington Sporting Club.

The local sports who have seen the colored whirlwind beat Barry up so severely were surprised that he wanted to be licked again. Perhaps his thirty-nine rounds with Al Kaufman gave him some courage to tackle his master again. Barry isn't afraid of anything that follows the ring, black or white, but is liable to jump the ropes if the other fellow stings him hard enough.

SAVAGE KNOCKED OUT BY LEARY

NEW YORK, March 17.—Billy Leary knocked out Danny Savage in the final round of a ten-round bout at the Long Acre Athletic Association. For the first three rounds the men fought evenly, but after that Leary had Savage at his mercy, landing repeatedly with his right and having Savage clinching to save himself. In the last round Savage was in bad shape and Leary scored heavily with his right, putting his opponent out near the close of the round.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN ENTRIES CLOSE TO-DAY

Entries close to-day for the two and one-half-mile and ten-mile cross-country runs, held under the auspices of the Providence A. C. The events are open to all registered athletes, and judging from the list of entrants some fine finishes will result in the races. Many prizes will be awarded to the athletes who make the best showing. W. C. Brand, No. 87 Weybosset street, Providence, is in charge of the entries.

BASKETBALL TITLE STILL UNDECIDED

And still the basket ball championship of the schools is undecided. Melrose and Somerville Highs met to decide the title, and after playing one of the roughest games seen this season between school fives, the score stood 24 to 24.

Referee O'Brien, of Danvers, lost control of the players at the start, and the game took on the appearance of a football struggle, as the players tripped, slugged and in other ways violated the rules and did not receive punishment from the official.

Taylor and Duggan of Somerville did the best work, while Milliken, Captain Stantial and Wentworth were the bright spots on the Melrose five.

An announcement to the affect that the teams would meet on neutral grounds to play off the tie was made after the contest.

The summary and line-ups of the teams follow:

SOMERVILLE H.	MELROSE H.
Duggan, Fisher, rf.	lb., Wentworth
Taylor, lf.	rb., R. Winship
Pierce, Duggan, c.	c., Milliken
Hurley, rb.	lf., K. Winship
Forg, Parks, lb.	rf., Stantial

Score—Somerville High, 24; Melrose High, 24. Goals from floor—Taylor, 6; Duggan, 4; Milliken, 5; R. Winship, Stantial. Goals from fouls—Duggan, 4; Stantial, 7; Milliken, 3. Referee—O'Brien of Danvers. Scorer—Ed Donahue. Timer—Lusk. Time—Twenty-minute halves. Attendance—400.

MORAN DEFEATS TOMMY MURPHY

NEW YORK, March 17.—Owen Moran of England gave Tommy Murphy of Harlem a hard beating in their ten-round fight at the Fairmont A. C. in a rattling bout. The fight was fast all the way through, Moran cutting open Murphy's right cheek and eye and covering his face with the crimson.

For the first five rounds the bout was even, both boys landing often and cleanly. Murphy then seemed to grow tired and missed half the blows he aimed at Moran.

In the last three rounds Moran cut loose and had Murphy staggering or on the ropes most of the time. Referee Billy John broke the fighters freely, giving the fight action all the way. This makes the second victory for Moran over Murphy.

MANY ENTRIES IN KING'S PLATE LIST

TORONTO, Can., March 17.—The entry list for the King's Plate, the oldest turf fixture run continuously on this continent, is heavier this year than it has been for several seasons, and the lists show that Canadian breeders are getting into the game wholly to win the plate.

The race will be run over the Woodbine course May 22.

Thirty-four nominations, representing twenty owners, have been received by the stewards. Most of the horses are three-year-olds, but more than a dozen are over that age. The most formidable of the candidates are: Shimonese, Courtown II., Scud, Merry Shore, French Shore, Shore Lark and Dog of War.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the American.

BOSTON TEAM WINS BY FOUL IN N. Y. MEET

NEW YORK, March 17.—George V. Bonhag of the Irish-American Athletic Club gave a grand exhibition of his prowess as a runner when he won the five-mile race at Madison Square Garden in 24:59 2-5 at the indoor carnival of the New York Athletic Club.

This beat the best accepted record of 25:19 2-5, made by Tom Collins at the indoor championships here last year.

An exciting race was the intercity relay race at one mile between Boston A. A. and New York A. C. teams of four men each. New York won by about twelve inches after a rousing finish, only to be disqualified for McIntee's fouling Nelson in the final lap.

John L. Sullivan's Column

What will be the limit of this Jeffries-Johnson fight controversy, which is in full blast at present? The white champion and the colored champion are having a merry time of it saying things about each other in the press, and the public eats it up with a vengeance.

From all appearances the battle of words has just begun, with the belligerents hundreds of miles apart. What will happen when both Johnson and Jeffries are located in the same city, as they expect to be by the end of the month, when theatrical dates will take them to New York, can only be surmised. The talkfest has apparently just begun to sizzle, judging from the way it ought to boil when the heavyweights face each other, an event which is not very far off.

Johnson evidently hasn't been aware what giant strides Jeffries has made in establishing himself in the confidence of the ring lovers, and is using every effort in his power to intercept the flow of popularity in Jeff's favor.

He is certainly taking the wrong track by his abusive methods in trying to force Jeffries from his stable position, as he will find a comeback for every vocal onslaught he fires at Jeff.

Johnson is certainly overstepping his position when he insists in holding himself up as a dictator. He may go along bellowing his lungs out that Jeff will have to see him first before he fights him, but the white champion, by pointing out his real standing, will take the ripple off all of Johnson's loud clamoring.

A glance at the past records of Johnson and Jeffries is rather convincing as to the relative measure of their standing in the pugilistic world to-day.

If Johnson could show a list of victims as celebrated as Jeff can there would be no cause to criticise Jack's action in considering him as a claimant for the heavyweight title.

$10,000 FOR BAT. TO BOX GANNON

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Matchmaker Jack McGuigan, of the National Athletic Club, is arranging a series of bouts. Tommy O'Toole has been signed up for three matches for a guarantee of $2,750. The men O'Toole is to meet are Jem Bowker, Abe Attell and Ad Wolgast. The first bout will be with Bowker on next Saturday night.

McGuigan is also anxious to get Battling Nelson into the ring with Mickey Ganoun, and has offered Nelson a $10,000 guarantee if he will meet this slugger at the National Club for six rounds. Nelson's manager, Willus Britt, is not in favor of the Dane accepting the offer, especially as it goes only six rounds. McGuigan offered to post the entire amount before the battle if Nelson would consent to fight.

BILLY ROLFE WINS FROM JIM DONOVAN

NEW YORK, March 17.—Billy Rolfe of Boston won from Jim Donovan in a ten-round bout at the Brown A. A. in West Twenty-third street. For the first few rounds the fight was fairly even, but near the close of the argument Rolfe had decidedly the better of things.

In the semi-final Frank Conley of Chicago defeated Joe Hyland of this city.

JEFF SAYS FIGHTERS ARE MONEY MAD

Tells Why Present Day Boxers Are Inferior

NEW YORK, March 17.—James J. Jeffries in his article to-day tells why the present day fighters are not as good as they were ten years ago. "A big awakening is coming soon," he says, "and New York will be the fight centre of the world."

By JAMES J. JEFFRIES.

(By Permission of William Morris, Inc.)
(Copyright, 1909, American-Journal-Examiner.)

WHY are the fighters nowadays so far inferior to what they were ten years ago?

That is the question that I have heard asked probably a million times, and everyone seems to have a different answer.

My opinion is that the fighter of to-day is money mad. He does not regard fighting as a profession, but is only interested in how much he can get out of it.

And there are numberless instances of this to bear out my statement. A promis- and then what does he do? Why, sports it for six months or so. He goes to some big city, makes a fool of himself, and then, when he goes broke, he looks for another fight. He tries to get back into shape, doesn't succeed, and when he gets in the ring, even with a dub, he is almost slaughtered. That ends his career, and he spends the rest of his days around a barroom telling any one who will listen to him "what I might have been."

Old-Timers Always Ready.

With me, and with all the old-timers, fighting was a profession. We counted on it for our bread and butter. No matter how often or seldom I fought I visited a gymnasium three times a week. The result was that I was always in condition when a match was made.

Another reason is this: These ten-round bouts that are so numerous just now do about as much harm as good. It takes more than ten rounds to start some fellows going—Battling Nelson, for instance—but if a fighter nowadays isn't able to deliver the goods in a short bout he can't get a match.

It takes a finish to show what there is in a man, and not until we have finish fights will there be any more real champions. The restrictions which have been placed on the game are sure to be raised in a short time, and I think that the prospects are very bright.

I look for New York to take the lead in this, too. New York is the logical fight centre of the world, and I firmly believe that it will not be long before it is so recognized. Give us laws that will permit real fights, and little old Manhattan will see some of the best fighting in the history of the game.

Short Bouts Are Bad.

One of the things that has surprised me is that the public has stood for these short bouts so long. To me it has always seemed that a six or ten-round mill is like giving a free lunch to a man with a banquet appetite. Let the boys get together and fight as long as they can. Sort them out that way, and it won't take long to find out what's what.

Matching boys for short fights is like allowing an insurance agent five minutes to convince a prospective victim that he needs $10,000 life insurance and that delay is dangerous. The agent knows that he must cram everything into those five minutes, and the result generally is that he loses his customer.

Probably if that same agent were stacked against the same man and given all the time he wanted he would leave with a signature affixed to an application blank.

Rush Fight Not Decisive.

And the same thing applies to fighters. A fighter who knows that he must finish his man in ten rounds isn't likely to fight his best. He will try to make a rush job of it—probably fight wildly, and the finish finds them both tired and generally on even terms. Nothing has been decided by the fight. The public that has paid its money isn't satisfied, but the law has been complied with, so what does it matter?

If a committee with the interest of the game at heart should begin a real fight for sensible laws it wouldn't be long before the old style fighting would be restored. I hope this will be done, and if it is, New York will become the fight centre of the world.

ROXBURY HAS STRONG TEAM

The prospects of having a high-class team to represent the Roxbury High School on the diamond this season are very bright. The nine is slated to meet better teams this year than last, as it has been put in the first division of the Boston High School League. This, however, has not darkened the prospects of the club, as it showed its class last season by easily winning the championship in the second division.

About forty men responded to the call and Captain North and Coach John J. O'Donnell are getting them into good shape.

The team's schedule has been made out and it will play seventeen games, all with the best teams of the State and most of them away from home. The schedule follows:

April 14, Wednesday—Hyde Park at Hyde Park.
April 16, Friday—Brighton at Brighton.
April 20, Tuesday—Dedham at West Roxbury.
April 23, Friday—Open.
April 27, Tuesday—Norwood at Norwood.
April 30, Friday—Brookline at West Roxbury.
May 5, Wednesday—Boston Latin at Locust street (league game).
May 8, Saturday—Winchester at Winchester.
May 12, Wednesday—English High at Locust street (league game).
May 19, Wednesday—Chelsea at Chelsea.
May 21, Friday—Winthrop at Winthrop.
May 26, Wednesday—South Boston at West Roxbury (league game).
May 31, Monday—Mechanic Arts at Dunbar avenue (league game).
June 3, Wednesday—Milton at Milton.
June 4, Friday—Revere at Revere.
June 9, Wednesday—Dorchester at Dunbar avenue (league game).
June 12, Saturday—Concord at Concord.

TECH EASY FOR AMHERST GYMS

Amherst had little difficulty in defeating Technology at the latter's gym by the score of 32¼ to 12¼, counting first three places. Amherst totaled 183.5 points to Tech's 153.6.

W. D. Allen, 1911, who holds both outdoor and indoor pole vault records at the Institute, was the only Tech man to take a first. He won the high bar event by the daring way he did the giant swing, with Captain H. S. Gott of M. I. T. and L. E. Wakelee of Amhurst tied for second. C. L. Cary of M. I. T., who held the sidehorse championship of New England, was beaten by W. W. Goodnow by one point.

Captain V. C. Grubnau of the fencing team and Gymnasium Instructor W. C. Towne gave a clever exhibition of fencing. After the regular events the Amhurst team furnished a treat in their performance on the flying rings.

Major F. H. Briggs presented the prizes.

DONAHUE DRAWS WITH FRED WELSH

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, and Young Donahue of Boston, Mass., fought a ten-round draw before the Parkview Athletic Club here before 1,500 people.

The fight from the start was fierce and fast, and in the first two rounds Welsh had slightly the advantage, in fact, the first five rounds were in his favor. After the third round the Boston boy began to come strong.

Dr. Woods called the bout a draw, which was greeted with great applause from all sides.

SCHOOLS IN TRACK MEET

The triangular indoor athletic meet between the Dorchester, Brighton and Commercial high schools, which is being held this afternoon, will likely be a close affair and the winner is hard to pick.

All three teams are in the pink of condition and the various coaches and captains have their men on edge for these contests. Dorchester high will be a little weaker than it has previously been on account of Sam London, the sprinter, and Bill Ross, the miler, being kept out of the sport. Good men have been developed to fill the vacancies and not many points will be dropped here, the Dorchester boys think.

Commercial high, under the care of Coach Crawley, has rounded into form and is especially strong in the high jump and shot put. Captain Rumpf and Shanahan will represent the school in the jumping, while Williams will be their mainstay in the shot put. Captain Rumpf also thinks he has a good chance at the relay race.

Brighton high's hopes of getting points all rest with their track men, as they expect to capture most of their marks with the runners. Abbett is their contender for the mile and has shown great recent trials lately. Alexander and Wallace will represent the Brighton high in the shot put and Wright will do the bulk of the high jump work.

NEW MEMBERS OF DOVES.

There will be an addition to the Doves squad at Atlanta next week, as Street Commissioner James A. Gallivan and Dr. George A. Sullivan are to join the team as guests of President George Dovey.

STARR TO RACE STABLE.

George Starr, who has spent the Winter in New York, will train a public stable and talks of locating at Poughkeepsie at an early date.

RED SOX PLAY TO-DAY IN GAME FOR CHARITY

By BERT MITCHELL.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 17.—The date on this dispatch signifies the wearing of the green in this town. There is to be a ball game on the Pittsburg club's grounds this afternoon between the Red Sox Regulars and a team composed mostly of Red Sox Yannigans and a few players like Spike Shannon and Lefty Davis of the St. Paul club. The receipts go to some kind of local charity. It will be the first time this year the Boston club has had a chance to play on a grass diamond and there is no doubt the Red Sox infield, Stahl, McConnell, Wagner and Lord will enjoy the change from the pebbly place they have been practicing upon since their first workout here on March 1.

This morning Manager Lake had his men out for the regular morning limbering up exercises at the Red Sox grounds and all hands enjoyed a fine bit of batting practice. It must be said for the Boston team that the players are hitting better than any club ever owned by President Taylor.

In every game so far between the Regulars and the Yannigans there has been the sweetest kind of hitting. Lately the opposing pitchers have been using everything they had up their sleeves. Morgan, Cicotte, Burchell, Steele, Wood, Arellanes and the others have been using midsummer speed, combined with a curve or two now and then, and the batters have had to work for all they could get.

Red Sox Are Hitters.

In spite of the fine pitching they have faced, every man on the team has shown a batting ability that has both surprised and gratified Manager Lake. The hits have not been of the fluke variety, but of the solid, clean kind that count so much in championship games.

Take yesterday's six-inning battle for example. The Regulars won, 15 to 3. McConnell, who led off, got in a home run and single, Lord ripped off two singles and a double, Speaker a single, Gessler hit safely three times and got a base on balls the other time he faced the pitcher, Wagner made two singles, Hooper a home run, and Morgan a double.

These hits of the Regulars were made against Steele and Barger. Steele had a tantalizing slow ball that bothered the batters not a little. But they managed to touch him up regularly.

French Gets Home Run.

For the Yannigans little Charlie French hit the first ball Cy Morgan served up to him for a home run, Niles got in a single, but the others couldn't hit either Morgan or Cicotte, who pitched the last inning.

Spike Shannon, the old National Leaguer, played right field for the Yannigans. He chased balls until his tongue hung out and finally decided that he had had a fine workout. At last Spike pulled off a double and a single. Old Lefty Davis covered centre field for the Yannigans and did some fine stunts, besides getting in a fine single. The afternoon's game showed that the Red Sox have their batting eyes well open.

Line-up Is Selected.

The practice has progressed so far as to prove that a line-up for the championship season has practically been decided upon.

There seems to be no chance of Danzig replacing Jake Stahl on first base. Jake has been giving as pretty an exhibition of fielding as has ever been seen on a Spring training stunt. And at bat he has been fairly good, too.

Little Charlie French, the Yannigan infielder, has shown that he is a man to be reckoned with. He is a star fielder and the great little batter; cool at the plate and a man who can hit the ball hard or bunt as the occasion requires. He is as fast as chain lightning and if anything should happen to McConnell, the little fellow could fill in nicely. I do not see how the club can let him go. For two days he has played shortstop on the Yannigans, but second base is clearly his position.

Thoney Works in Uniform.

Thoney is now in uniform and he will soon be in shape to take a chance in the outfield.

"I believe I will bat better than .300 this year," said "The Bullet" to-day, "and my arm is 500 per cent. better than it was last year."

As soon as Thoney is a little stronger, he will be played in left field regularly. The other players are all cinched with the Regulars.

The problem before Manager Lake is to reduce his pitching squad to not more than eight or nine men. I think the men who will have to go are Barger, Thielman and Ryan. That will leave Morgan, Cicotte, Wood, Arellanes, Steele, Burchell, Wolter, Chech and Ehman. Certainly as good a staff of twirlers as any club could desire.

All four catchers, Carrigan, Spencer, Donahue and Madden will be carried on the club's pay roll. French and Hooper will doubtless stay through the season. In all the Red Sox have the fastest aggregation of ball players in the country, the only really slow runners on the team being Carrigan, Donahue and Morgan.

BANTAMS WIN FROM DOVES IN FAST CONTEST

By BILL ROSS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 17.—Inside play and signal work was tried by the Doves for the first time to-day. Manager Frank Bowerman put the Bantams in the field and the Regulars at the bat for the morning session and worked his pitchers in and out of the box until the whole corps of twirlers had some chance to show themselves. Donohue is the only one of the bunch who complains at all of a lame wing. He is not worrying much evidently about the making of the teams. He has not got into form as yet this spring and in the Yannigan games has been in the box less than anyone of the delivery department. There is a good deal of levity in the boy's composition. But he gets serious when at the bat. He tries to knock the ball out of sight.

He held the record for striking out until the last game. Then he knocked several fouls over the left field fence and next came within six feet of sending the ball over fair. The hit netted him two sacks and would surely have been good for a triple had he shown speed in sprinting. The way he walloped the ball when the Bantams trimmed the Doves, four to two, was the first explanation he gave of why he has a reputation as a pinch hitter in Montreal.

Circus Game Played.

The game was somewhat of the three-ring variety, with all clowns working. The boys had a good time and played some good ball, as well as more that was as yellow as a buttercup.

The ground was too heavy for fast work in fielding or running. Some of the plays were the real stuff, however.

"Big Mike" decided at the last minute not to be a regular. President George B. Dovey also got down on the base line and rooted hard for the Bantams. Bill Chappelle seemed to lose his goat, no matter which team he played on. He figured detrimentally on both.

In the second round, while he was playing right field for the Bantams, he muffed a line drive poled out by Bill Sweeney, after Charley Starr and "Peaches" Graham had swatted for singles. Chappy's juggling of the ball enabled Starr to make the plate.

In the ninth inning, with the score a tie, Bowerman put the Indian sign on the Doves. He told Ferguson, who had been pitching for the Regulars, that he had done enough for the day, and handed Chappelle to the Doves as a substitute in the box.

"They all laid down on me," Chappy cried in bitterness when it was all over.

It looked as if he dispensed the right dope in his lamentations. After Harry Smith died at first on an easy infield hit, Bowerman bunted for a base. He tore up the ground like a steam plow on the way. Just to show how highly seasoned he is, "Big Mike" stole second. They had to dig the sack out of the mud after he had leaped upon it.

Boultes Hits Three-Bagger.

Jake Boultes, who found a mule shoe just outside the cemetery gate, and had been doing some hitting ever since, cracked the ball on the dead centre. It sailed so fast on a high-line course that when Starr interposed his mitt there was only an ominous thud and the sphere caroomed to centre. Bowerman made third on the contretemps, and came home when Jakey made a dash for second.

Bill Dahlen didn't play at all. He complained of a slight cold, and Bowerman told him, as the weather was still damp, he had better stay at the hotel. Charley Starr played short for Bill, and the ground he had for territory was slippery enough for skates. Starr booted a few without getting the credit that would go to a football artist.

In the eighth round Becker showed that he is alive on the bases, and nearly got away with the fastest piece of baseball exhibited during the game.

He popped a short one that fell dead between the box and the line to second, and not only beat the ball to first, but lacked about six inches of being safe at the next sack. Just as Boultes was about to put the ball on him, Becker's heels got mired and he did a contortion act that sent him into centre field.

Barrett was the only twirler who threw any benders. The ball broke for him all right until the third inning, when he walked Donohue and White and hit Stem on the arm in succession.

Double Play Saves Doves.

All that saved the Doves from disaster then and there was a double play. McCarthy hit to Starr who chucked Donohue out at the plate, while Graham nailed the runner at first.

Bill Sweeney fielded faster than any of the late arrivals. Ferguson, as umpire, wasn't so bad. But he would insist on coaching at the same time. Tom Tuckey was also a referee.

"How's that?" shouted Harry Smith to Tom, when Starr threw him out to Stem.

"You're out twice," said Tom. "The ball beat you and you turned the wrong way."

BOWLING ALLEY GOSSIP

The six men who have carried along the major portion of the Medford's fight in the Elks' League this season have a team average to date of exactly 90 for each man, as follows: Greene, 92 22-51; Crowley, 92 3-15; Ward, 90 18-19; Smith, 89 3-12; McKeon, 87 44-51; Tyler, 87 1-18.

Richardson of the Everetts made a big drop in his average for the season in the Malden game by only connecting for a total of 248. He is hard after one of the individual prizes, but will have to brace in the final games to be in line.

Timmy Burns of Chelsea lost his hold on the single-string record of the Elks through his mate on the team, Cook, rattling of 135.

Crowley of Medford, too, gave Burns a big scare for the three-string total in scattering the pins for 331. A missed spare in the last box and a two-pin spare in the eighth was what saved Burns his record total for the league.

"Doc" Smith is going to get into that charmed 90 notch in his next game or something will bust. He lacks just 36 pins of the desired number, which means a three-string total of 308. However, "Doc" might get an average of 288 in the two coming final games and then be in line with the 90 average bowlers.

Ward having to catch a theatre party did not bowl the final string at Chelsea, Tyler, though a sick man, taking his place.

In the two-men candle pin tournament at the Revere alleys at the close of the second week, Walsh and Taylor lead with 893, Walsh and Spillane being second with 882, Poehler and O'Brien third with 878, Poehler and Millar fourth with 857, and so to the fifteenth team of Taylor and Williams with 773. The fifteen high teams roll off the finals next Monday evening.

All were happy that Rooter Whitney showed up at the Chelsea game. It always seems sort of homelike in seeing "Whit" in the rooters' box. This time he was scorekeeper for Medford.

Transcript losing three points to Herald 1st puts them back in the hunt, making the race in the Newspaper League more interesting.

Captain Noyes of Somerville and chairman of the Elks' Bowling League Banquet Committee, says that everything is going along finely for the dinner scheduled April 12. Bowlers and rooters belonging to all of the Greater Boston and Lynn lodges will be on hand, which means there will be plenty doing. "Don't miss it!" were the Cap's final words to a coterie of Elks last evening.

HORSE NEWS TRACK GOSSIP

Benjamin Pope is greatly pleased over the arrival of a filly foal by his stallion King Peter, 2:30 3-4, out of Hazel, by Solicitor. This is the third of the stallion's get this Spring and all are perfect in every way. Later Henry Titer will condition King Peter for a low race record, it being counted that he can handily go into the 2:10 list.

Dr. A. H. Fitch, who sustained a broken leg during the sleighing season, has so far recovered that he hopes to resume his practice in a couple of weeks.

Of the eighteen 2:10 performers bred in Massachusetts no less than eleven were bred at the Forbes Farm, or descended from stallions kept there.

Henry Harding, the Vermont trainer, expects to have a winning stable out this year. Among those with records he will campaign is Sir Alcander, 2:14¼, brother of Daniel, 2:00½; Prince Archer, 2:21¼ and Jimmie V., 2:22¼.

Walter Cox is planning to remove from Manchester to Granite State Park, Dover, the coming week. A youngster he banks on making good is Manchester Boy, by Phantom, 2:10¼, out of the dam of Directum Kelly, 2:08¼.

Dennis Neyland, who was Henry Titer's assistant at the Forbes Farm, but in recent years has been located in Bellows Falls, Vt., talks of opening a public stable at Readville.

George W. Leavitt says that the report he had bought the young stallion Maine Todd, by Todd, 2:14¾, out of the dam of Melton, 2:14¼, was premature.

When John Young comes to Readville with the Allen Farm string the first of May there will be included in the lot a two-year-old colt, own brother of Binvolo, 3, 2:09½, and Bisa 2:27¾, that was sold a few months ago for $10,000.

It seems that the story that Fred Hyde and Nick Hubinger have parted company is not true. In place of coming to Readville this year, however, Mr. Hyde is to open a public stable at Charter Oak Park, having Mr. Hubinger's horses as before, but taking outside ones, too.

Charley Haley, owner of Mrs. Jack, 2:25¼, dam of King Peter, 2:29¼, is interested in knowing that another of her foals, King Ringen, by Ringen, 2:04¼, will be raced this year, and is said to have plenty of speed to win with. He is owned by W. P. Anderson, Erie, Pa.

THE ISLAND OF REGENERATION

Story of a Girl Robinson Crusoe—By Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady.

SYNOPSIS

Katherine Brenton, the heroine of this extraordinary tale, is a product of the higher education, college graduate and author. Handsome, young and athletic, as well as intellectual, she is also an atheist and a bitter hater of conventionality. Fancying herself in love with a person named Langford, who professes to share her ideals, she sets society at defiance and agrees to share her life with him.

They set forth in Langford's yacht for their honeymoon and sail to the Southern Seas. Before long the woman realizes that she has committed a grievous error. Langford is far from being what she supposed, and her ideal is completely shattered when in a drunken mood he calls her his mistress, and she learns that he has a wife living. He attempts to approach her and she repulses him with violence. He staggers, falls and is knocked senseless by the contact of his head with the cabin floor. There are no witnesses to the encounter. Katherine's one idea is now to escape at any cost from the man who has thus deceived her. Under cover of night she slips into a boat towing astern, severs the rope and goes adrift upon the waters. She is cast ashore during a storm upon a lonely island. Here she finds a solitary inhabitant—a young man of European appearance, but clothed like a savage and unable to speak in any known language. He is a splendid specimen of manhood and mild and tractable in his ways. From certain wreck relics on the island Katherine deduces that his name is Charnock and that having arrived there when an infant, he must be about twenty-five years of age.

Katherine begins the education of the young barbarian and finally succeeds in teaching him the language and some of the customs of their people. They divide the island in two parts, which they occupy separately as homes, but unite their labors by day.

An earthquake, which imprisons Katherine in her cave, brings Charnock to her rescue, and they both realize that they are mutually in love.

CHAPTER X (Continued)

"THANK God!" came faintly to her from beyond the wall. "Thank God, I hear your voice. I shall have you out, never fear."

She pressed her ear close to the heap of huge loose stones which filled the opening. She could hear him working outside.

"Don't be afraid," he said at last.

"I fear nothing," she answered, "if you are there."

He Was the Master Now

In one instant the situations of life had been reversed. He was the master now and she hung upon his words and actions even as he had done in days gone by.

She had no knowledge of what task was before him, but she could hear the progress that he was making. It was evident that he was working furiously, and yet he stopped once in every little while to reassure himself as to her presence.

"Woman," he cried, "are you still there?"

"Here and waiting," was the answer.

He needed that assurance of her safety to enable him to achieve his prodigious task.

How terrible were the efforts he put forth, she did not know until afterward, but his was the work of a Titan. He was moving mountains with his bare hands. Inspired by love, mightiest of passions, he was tearing asunder, like the earthquake, the rocky foundations of the world.

Well for him that he was so thewed and sinewed. Well for her that God had added strength and splendid qualities.

He had never done any work in his life harder than the climbing of a tree, but no toiler with a heritage of earth's whole experience of labor could have struggled as did he.

He had been awakened at the selfsame instant in his lonely cell upon the other side of the island. With the first shock he remembered that some time in his days of darkness before she came there had been a similar upheaval.

He realized instantly what it was. Less timorous than the woman, more agile, he did not lie supine for a single second. His thoughts were instantly for her. He had thrown himself from his cave and had raced across the shaking, quivering island without the hesitation of a moment.

Never so long as he might live could he forget the shock that came to him when he saw his way to her barred by that great heap of rock, fallen from the face of the cliff, which lay over the entrance to the cave.

For one moment he had stood appalled and then he had got to work. How much time had elapsed before he arrived at her door, how much time it took him to clear it away, he had no idea.

He had no thought but that he must open a passage and get to her dead or alive.

Such was the furious energy of his toil that by and by the great mass of rock was cleared away save one huge boulder which fairly blocked the entrance. It was light outside now. A gray dawn and full of storm.

Through the wider interstices she could see him plainly. She knew now that her rescue was only a matter of time.

A branch of a tree for a lever and his strength would roll the rock away. She started to tell him but he caught a glimpse of her white face pressed against a crevice and the sight inspired him.

With a great burst of strength, the like of which possibly had never been compassed by mortal man since Samson pulled apart the pillars of the temple, he rolled the great rock aside and stood in the entrance, gasping, panting, with outstretched arms.

But a step divided them. That step she took.

With a sob of relief she fell upon his breast, naturally, inevitable. His splendid arms swept her close to him. Her own hands met about his neck.

With upturned face she looked upon him in all the abandonment of perfect passionate surrender.

The First Kiss

He bent his head and kissed her, the first time in all his years that his lips had been pressed upon another mouth.

He clung to her there in that kiss as if to make up in one moment for all the neglected possibilities of the past, as if never in all the bringings forth of the future should such another opportunity be offered him.

He felt for the first time in his life the beat of another human heart against his own, the rise and fall of another human breast, the throbbing of another human soul.

Tighter and tigher his arms strained her to him.

She gave herself up in that mad, delirious, awful moment to the full flow of long checked passion and kiss for kiss, pressure for pressure, and heart beat for heart beat, she made response.

It was too much.

It was the man who broke away. There was nothing, no experience, no remembrance, to teach him. It was all surprise.

He thrust her from him slowly. Her hands lingered about his neck, but his backward pressure would not be denied.

He held her at arms' length, her hands outstretched to him, her bosom panting, her eyes shining, her cheeks aflame in the gray dawn.

Yielding, giving up to him absolutely, yet something, the magnificent metal of the man, the restraints through which he had gone, the long battles with his own passion rose to his soul and gave him mastery once more.

"Woman! woman!" he whispered—no mere local name would represent her now. She was humanity to him—"Woman!" he whispered, "My God! my God!"

He turned away, sank down on one of the great boulders that he had thrown aside and buried his face in his hands, his body shaking with emotions he could scarce define but well understood.

The woman threw herself down on her knees before him and took him once more in her arms.

"Man," she said, "I love you!"

She drew his hands away from his face; she laid her own face in his bleding palm and kissed it.

"Man," she said, her lips wet with his own blood in a sort of wild, barbaric sacrament, "man, I love you!"

He started at her as one distraught.

He had dreamed of this, he had imagined it, he had prayed for it, he had hoped for it, but no revelation that had come to him in the years of their association equalled in its blinding brilliancy, in its intense illumination, the revelation in that woman's voice, in that woman's eyes, in that woman's touch.

"Man," she said again, "I love you. Do you understand? Do you know what it means?"

Then he found voice. He took her hand and pressed it against his heart.

"I know," he whispered. "I understand here."

He rose to his feet, stooped, caught her by the shoulders and lifted her to his level. A piece of rock ill balanced on the edge of the cliff fell crashing. The place was dangerous.

Without a word he slipped his arm beneath her, lifted her up as he might have done a child and carried her out upon the sand away from the beetling crags of the rocky wall.

She nestled in his arms with a sense of joy and satisfaction and helplessness cared for so exquisite that it was almost pain.

He sat her down presently on the sand and knelt before her. The sunlight sprang through the gray haze on the horizon's edge and lighted her face as he peered into it.

Suddenly he threw himself prostrate before her and laid his lips upon her feet.

"Not there," she whispered, laying her hand upon his bent head, "but here, here in my arms, upon my heart, for Man, Man, I love you!"

Then kneeling by her side he took her once more within his arms.

"But you have not said," she began at last, "that you loved me."

No Word to Express It.

"There is no word," he said softly, "in that speech which you have taught me which is equal to what I feel. You don't know how I have looked upon you and longed for you ever since you made know and feel that I was a man with a man's soul.

"Night after night I have watched you as you went to your nook in the rocks. But that you have taught me honor and consideration, what it is to be a gentleman, I had followed and caught you in the dark within my arms."

She laid her hand upon his breast and looked at him feelingly, entreatingly, with touching consciousness of his strength and her weakness.

"What I have taught you," she asked, "you will not forget?"

"Never! Never!"

He released her waist and took her hand and kissed it. There was as much passion in the pressure of his lips upon her hand as there was in the beat of his heart against her own, she felt.

"You," he continued, "will say what is to be done."

"Not I," she answered piteously, "but you. I have no strength when you are by. Since that moment when you kissed me, you are the master and the man, but you will respect me in my helplessness?"

"As if you were God in heaven," cried the man, raising his hand as one who makes a vow. "You are to me everything that is pure, that is holy, that is lovely."

"No! No!" she whispered, a look of terror coming into her face.

"Yes," he said. "Through you I know God, through you I know woman. You are sacred to me. Never again, unless you give me leave, will I press my lips to yours; never again, unless you say I may, will I take you in my arms; never again will I even touch your hand. Indeed, indeed, I cannot do these things.

"And yet I will love you in ways of which you cannot dream so long as I can draw the breath of life."

He rose to his feet as he spoke and turned away from her and stood with clasped hands and bowed shoulders. In one moment the whole course of their lives had changed.

It had taken an earthquake shock to do it, but so terrific had been the submerged fires of mutual passions that a whisper opportunely uttered would have effected the same revolution.

She sat and watched him wondering what would be the end of it.

She knew at last what love was, not the pale philosophic emotion she had experienced in the cabin of that yacht. God, how she hated that recollection.

How she wished it had never been. If untouched by man she could have been cast upon that island to be given to this man who looked upon her as a goddess.

She had told him some of her history, but not the part which was vital. It had been easy not to enlighten him wholly as to that. He knew nothing about conditions. He had never seen a ship or a boat within his recollection and the story she had settled upon and told him was one that received instant acceptance from him.

Indeed there was nothing she had told him, or could have told him, that he would not implicitly have accepted and believed. The king could do no wrong. She was incarnate truth.

And she would have to tell him all now. She would have to put into that pure soul alive with passionate devotion, admiration, respect, every feeling that can make up the sum of mighty love, this story of evil and shame. There was no help for it. She would have to tell him.

The Great Problem.

But she could not tell him now, not on this day. She would have a few perfect hours. She would stand for a little while within the vales of Eden. She would look for a little time through the gates of heaven. To-morrow!

To-day she would have and she would enjoy it to the full. She rose softly to her feet as well and stepped closer to him. She laid her hand upon his shoulder. She could see the muscles in his arms tighten as he clenched his hands the harder.

She turned him gently about and lifted her perfect lips to his. She kissed him again. Her hand sought his; her fingers parted his iron grasp. She drew his arm about her and nestled against him.

"I trust you," she said, "as I love you. I shall be safe with you. You shall not draw away from me in such isolation. You have waited long for kisses like this."

And then the man spoke, the man in him.

"Woman," he said, "yours are the only lips that have been pressed upon mine, save perhaps my mother's as a child. Has any other man ever kissed you?"

She could not lie to him.

"Don't ask me," she said.

The man had turned away with a groan. No happiness is unalloyed; no joy comes into our lives that some pain does not dog its footsteps. With love came jealousy before the flood.

"At least," she said pressing closer to him, and he did not repulse her, "I have loved no man but you."

"Oh!" he said, taking her once more within his arms, "that I might know for one moment what is out there, how you lived, who saw you, who followed you, who loved you!"

"I shall tell you," said the woman.

"But you have told me."

"Not all."

"When the rest then?"

"To-morrow. Meanwhile let us enjoy the day"—the old, old human prayer, let us enjoy the day despite the morrow—"let it suffice that I love you; that I never loved anyone else; that no kisses like to yours have ever been pressed upon my lips, no, I believe not upon the lips of mortal woman. Let us pass the day in happiness together.

"Come, we must breakfast. We must see what the earthquake has done to our island. We have things to think about, things to do."

"I have nothing to think about but you; nothing to do but to love you."

Hand in hand they stepped across the sand to the shade of the trees, a royal and a noble couple, the splendid woman nobly planned, fit mate for the godlike man, children of God and Nature, both of them in loose tunics which she had woven from the long, soft grass, which left neck and arms bare and fell to knee and were belted in at the waist.

Unhampered by any of the debasing or degrading garments of civilization, they were a pair to excite the admiration and envy of the gods.

To Be Continued To-morrow.

Training the Heart Is Best Education

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

AMERICAN people are most ambitious for education.

The poorest parents, however uninstructed themselves, are usually ready to make great sacrifices to educate their children.

It is a commendable wish; but it is a pity that so few parents realize the vast importance of laying a foundation of heart education on which to build the mental structure.

This thought has recently been brought forcibly to mind by a highly educated young woman.

She has taken degrees in American, German and French schools, and has acquired all the accomplishments which money can bestow. She is a musician of skill, an art critic of ability, and she has been given advantages of travel and acquaintance with the usages of society.

But alas! Her heart is ignorant of sympathy, and her nature is wholly unawakened to love for any thing but self.

I knew this girl when she was a small child, and I know how many sacrifices were made to give her exceptional opportunities in life.

All Brain, but No Heart

The foundation of her education, laid abroad, meant anxiety and economy for those who were not rich in this world's goods, but who were consumed with ambition for the child.

Later the fortune of a relative who married wealth "finished" the girl's education. She is fitted to "shine" in any society; but she is unfitted to make any human being happy.

Her face is as cold as ice. No ray of sympathy radiates from her.

She is worldly and self-seeking and money is the only god she worships.

Companions of her early years she unhesitatingly cuts and wounds without flinching, because she desires only the acquaintance of those who can advance her worldly interests.

Education like this is a greater disaster to the individual and to the world than the direst ignorance.

Such a woman can only bring sorrow to others and trouble upon herself.

Unless education refines the nature and awakens the nobler sentiments, it hardens the heart and offers larger opportunities for cruelty.

The woman who knows how to be sarcastic and bitter in three languages is more to be dreaded than she who only speaks one tongue imperfectly. Words are swords which need the sheath of kindness.

Before you deprive yourself of necessities to educate your children try to give them a comprehension of the great culture which lies in the unvarying effort to be kind.

Culture Implies Kindness

Those two words are very simple, and they are very old. So old that they seem to have lost their meaning for the world.

But they are more important in the forming of character than the word education, as it is generally employed.

There is no such thing as a cultured man or woman who is unkind.

Education and cruelty can walk hand in glove; but Culture must include kindness of impulse, word and action.

A cultured woman avoids wounding another human being wilfully or thoughtlessly.

She always finds the way to be tactful and considerate of the feelings of those with whom she associates, whether equals or inferiors.

This education of the heart can be given a child by any mother, however humble and poor she may be. Children are merely thoughtless and selfish little animals until their higher natures are awakened by training. They do not understand the meaning of unselfishness until it is taught them. This is the work for every parent to undertake as soon as a child can reason or understand.

Instead, the average parent accents the natural selfishness of the unawakened animal nature by urging a child to surpass its companions, instead of urging it to bring out the best in itself.

What We Are Counts Most

I know a little girl who, because she was born an "Old Soul" and had passed through many previous incarnations, was abnormally sensitive to the pain of others. She was a brilliant scholar, but, seeing that a classmate was suffering with a desire to win the glory of standing first in an examination, the little girl purposely failed in a lesson.

When her parents heard of her failure they were chagrined and astonished. Close questioning forced her into a confession of the truth.

"Yes, I knew my lesson," she said, "but Molly was feeling so terribly to miss being first, I thought I would let her. As long as I knew the lesson I did not care."

Instead of receiving praise for her unselfishness, the little girl was roundly scolded.

The parents were not satisfied that the girl knew her lesson; they wanted her to have the glory of being first. Yet ten-fold greater was the glory of such an impulse as hers.

Teach a child that it is not what we know, what we learn, what we do, or what people say of us; but what we are, that means "higher education."

After you have solidly laid the foundation of such an understanding of life's purposes, then begin to rear the structure—the education of the brain.

But that edifice will crumble into ruins when life's great tempests beat about it, unless the mason work of character lies below.

"We'll Go Back to Erin Some Day, Mavourneen"---By Nell Brinkley

What Every True Son or Daughter of Erin Is Always Dreaming When Away from the "Green Little Isle," Especially on St. Patrick's Day

'The old sometimes dream of going, to never come back- -the young, to see Ireland and come back here across the gray water again.'

"Take a blessing from my heart to the land of my birth.
And the fair hills of Eire, O!
And to all that yet survive of Eibhear's tribe on earth.
On the fair hills of Eire, O!
In that land so delightful the wild thrush's lay.
Seems to pour a lament forth for Eire's decay—
Alas, alas, why pine I a thousand miles away
From the fair hills of Eire, O!

"Broad and tall rise the Cruachs in the golden morning's glow
On the fair hills of Eire, O!
O'er her smooth grass forever sweet cream and honey flow
On the fair hills of Eire, O!
Oh, I long, I am pining, again to behold
The land that belongs to the brave Gael of old;
Far dearer to my heart than a gift of gems and gold
Are the fair hills of Eire, O!

"A fruitful clime is Eire's, through valley, meadow, plain,
And the fair land of Eire, O!
The very 'Bread of Life' is in the yellow grain
On the fair hills of Eire, O!
Far dearer unto me than the tones music yields,
Is the lowing of her kine and the calves in her fields,
And the sun-light that shone long ago on the shields
Of the Gaels, on the fair hills of Eire, O!

DONOGH (THE RED) MAC CON-MARA

THIS is the day when the Irishman's heart reaches and calls for the green, sea-bound Isle of Erin. You'll hear it singing to-day—the heart that has centuries behind it to make it mournful, and has yet "sung all along the way." And been loyal, too, to Erin.

They never forget it—the Queen of the Isles—the island born, and those born of valiant Irish mothers under the American sun; it's all the same. They nurse the fierce flame of love for the beautiful mother-land in their breasts and dream hungeringly of seeing it again.

The old sometimes dream of going to never come back—the young to see Ireland and come back here across the gray water again. Those who have never seen it dream as tenderly and yearningly as those who call the thatched cottages and the moors and fens "my home." There is always the little bag or the box where the heap of new-world money rises slowly and sometimes nigh hopelessly, coin by coin, that is to take them home again to see the people they love and left—and the sun and the birds and the hills and the water and sky, that is like no other land's sun and birds and hills and water and sky to them.

The brawny, gentle-hearted young Conor, with his mystic, melody-filled, romantic Irishman's heart, takes his Sheelin's chin in his hand and turns it up and bids her look, and he says:

"O Rois Gheal Dubh—Black-haired Fair Rose—Some day we'll go back, my dear—yesterday I put away a bit——"

And she gazes where he turns her head and sees the low cottage below the dip of the road, with the purple hills rising singing beyond, and Sheela sings merrily through her tears, with her mouth close to his cheek:

"But at times their finances
Run short as it chances,
And then I feel very sad, very."

The old Tim, with merry eyes shining out of his crinkled face and the dancing of the ladies still in his childish heart, draws his old mate, with her worn hair and hands, and heavy but glad eyes, against his shoulder and croons with the Irishman's trilling togne,

"'Twill come soon—just a bit more—and then we'll go back, Mavourneen."

And their faces lighten and smile with the dream of the green isle's shores and the people there, and the old airs, and the dancing in the thatched house on the heath, and the better times they'll take with them.

And some never go. But so it is. The dream never fades. The old are as dreamful and hoping and merry and sure as the young—and it is always:

"When we go back to Erin, Mavourneen."

May you go some day, but come back—for we like you here.

"O Patrick, my friend, have you heard the commotion,
The languor, the shouting, so lately gone forth?——"

It's the wearing of the green! Tuck a little three-leafed shamrock in your coat this day for that fine, child-hearted man, quick with his tears and his smiles, and splendidly, magnificently faithful to his Ireland.

May the bright sun and moon bless you, son of Erin! NELL BRINKLEY.

Three Things in Life That You Cannot Hide

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DO you know what they are, the three things that you cannot hide? An old proverb says that the three things that cannot be hidden are fire, violets and love.

The fire is betrayed by the smoke, the violets by their odor, and love—well, there are so many ways in which love betrays itself that it would be hard to particularize them all.

A man is not shy about his love. He would just as soon the whole world knew of it, but that is because centuries of custom has given him the right to shout from the house tops, if he so desires, "I love this woman and I am going to get her if it is in human power to do so."

But the girl—ah, that is different! She must lock her precious secret tight in her throbbing heart. She hardly dares acknowledge it even to herself.

Afraid Some One Will Guess

She is so horribly afraid that others will guess it that she pretends indifference and interest in other men. She would die rather than have any one suspect her of more than a friendly feeling for the man whose very name and presence set her heart to beating in the most maddening, delicious, terrifying way.

So she only looks into that precious secret chamber of her heart when she is all alone, so afraid is she of curious onlookers.

She flutters in the grasp of love like a wild, shy thing—afraid to stay, loath to go.

It is so wonderful to her, this love. Surely no one ever before loved as much as she does. That is the way she feels in her hours of exaltation. She alternately sails on rose hued clouds of hope or sinks to the lowest depths of despair.

Does he love her? Surely his manner when he said good-by last night showed that he cared a good deal.

Did she not lie for hours, wide eyed, in the dark, going over and over the sweet significance of that good-by?

But All the World Knows It

"But why should he love me?" she suddenly reflects; "there are so many prettier, brighter girls whom he might have for the asking; of course he would not fall in love with poor, little uninteresting me. That good-night meant nothing but friendly interest. Oh, dear, and oh, dear, and oh, dear."

And thus she goes from sunshine to clouds, the poor little human barometer.

And all the time she thinks that no one guesses her secret.

Why, if the dear little soul might put her heart in a glass box and hang it on her wrist it could not show any more plainly than it does now.

Every one knows her secret, but no one thinks any the less of her and every one hopes her love story will turn out happily.

When Love, the great transfigurer writes his magic message in the heart of a woman her face reflects the glory.

You may hide your love from the man you love, but you cannot hide it from the rest of the world, but what of that—for "the world it has a mind to her, all nature's passing kind to her, when a maid does fall in love."

To-morrow's Best Bargains

IN BOSTON'S BIG STORES

At Felix Kornfeld's Millinery House at No. 65 Summer street ask to see the special ready-to-wear hat to be placed on sale Thursday for $1.95. It is one of the newest models of the season, made of rough straw, in black, navy, brown and combination of colors. The crown is made full and the brim is turned down in mushroom fashion and is trimmed with fold of satin and wide loops of satin and straw buckle on left side. This is a smart, practical model for early wear and a bargain at $1.95.

Shop in Shepard Norwell's Linen Department to-morrow if you would like to buy a supply of high grade pillow slips at a bargain. Just for Tuesday's selling, several dozen slips made (42x38½) of the well-known "Pride of the West" cotton, that regularly sell for 25 cents each, will be offered as a special at 15 cents. These slips are all made the right way of the cotton, torn and ironed and are finished with a three-inch hem.

The L. Starr Co. at No. 35 Winter street has just twelve little rain coats, in sizes for the little tot from two to six years, that they will place on sale to-morrow at a greatly reduced price. They are made in a smart double breasted model of dark striped rubber, buttoned high at throat, and have deep patched pockets. At $1.98 they were excellent value, but for quick clearance they will all be marked to 98 cents each. Shop early, as the lot, being small, will not last long.

In Gilchrist's Coat Department on Thursday early shoppers will find a most remarkable bargain in separate coats. Thirty-four hip length models, made of light and dark mixtures, in semi-fitted style, all nicely lined throughout with guaranteed satin, that were originally priced $10, will be marked to an unheard-of price to close—79 cents. This lot contains misses' sizes and ladies' sizes up to 42 bust. Do not miss this sale if you would like to purchase a coat of this kind, as this is a most unusual offering.

To-morrow, at China Hall, No. 47 Summer street, you will find an especially good bargain in a handsome jardiniere for 49 cents. They are made melon shape, in a rich Hampshire green, 9 inches high by 10½ inches wide, and sell regularly for 75 cents. This reduced price is made for readers of this column for Thursday's selling only.

The James A. Houston Co. has just made a special purchase of a manufacturer's surplus stock of muslin curtains that they have planned to offer at exceptionally low prices. If you need new curtains for your Summer cottage this is an opportunity that should not be missed, as at the prices of 29 cents, 39 cents and 49 cents a pair, these curtains will be found extra good value. They are made with 3 and 5-inch tucks and full hemstitched ruffle.

The A. Shuman Co. will have on sale to-morrow some especially good values in striped gingham petticoats, which they will sell for 25 cents, or three for $1. These are well made skirts, with deep ruffle and are just the thing for house wear. You will also find a black cotton mohair petticoat, cut extra full and made with a 14-inch flounce, at 55 cents, which is also a bargain.

SAME ol' pea an' same ol' shells,
Same menagerie an' same ol' smells,
Same ol' lion—sorter tame—

Same ol' flim-flam, same ol' bark,

How About These Pinochle Scores?

AFTER an all-night session, the Hoboken Pinochle Quartet settled their scores and found that one dollar and ten cents had changed hands. William had won twice as much as Heinrich lost, and Claus lost three times as much as Hans won.

From this short description of the battle can you tell just how much each of the players won or lost?

The Ideal Waist

THE mannequins who are employed by many West End dressmakers to display the new season's dresses are trying to bring their waist measurements up to a uniform twenty-four inches, which is the ideal waist of the present fashion.

The eighteen or nineteen inch waists, which were once the rule in many West End showrooms, and which necessitated excessive tight lacing for the girls employed, are not only no longer required in the better-class establishments, but their possessors are required to develop a waist measurement several inches larger.

"Our stock waist is twenty-four inches, for it is impossible to show present-day gowns to advantage on a smaller waist," explained the manageress of one well-known establishment yesterday. "Many people have developed unnatural waists in course of time, and when a girl has acquired one of these small waists a pad is placed inside her corsets to fill up the waist cavity.

"Tight lacing only obtains in old-fashioned showrooms, which have not yet taken cognizance of the entire change in the character of dress."—London Daily Mail.

To-day's Best Story

A CLERGYMAN, who was summoned in haste by a woman who had been taken suddenly ill, answered the call, though somewhat puzzled by it, for he knew that she was not of his parish, and was, moreover, known to be a devoted worker in another church. While he was waiting to be shown to the sick room he fell to talking to the little girl of the house.

"It is very gratifying to know that your mother thought of me in her illness," said he. "Is your minister out of town?"

"Oh, no," answered the child, in a matter-of-fact tone. "He's home; only we thought it might be something contagious, and we didn't want to take any risks."

HOW ELSE DID HE KNOW?

"An Ohio preacher says a kiss is a worse intoxicant than drink."

"What do you think of that?"

"I think he's been kissing."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THE WISE HUSBAND.

Bronson—I've just given $100 for this diamond ring for my wife.

Woodson—It's a beauty! But isn't it rather—er—extravagant?

Bronson—Not a bit. Think what it will save in gloves!—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A WISE GIRL

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Two years ago I met a young man with whom I have corresponded regularly ever since. His letters have grown rather serious of late, and as he is not the sort of fellow to lead a girl on I am sure that he means what he writes. Now I do not care for this young man, only as a friend. What am I to do, for I do not wish it to go any further?

PERPLEXED.

YOU ARE a sensible girl to realize the state of affairs and not allow the situation to grow too serious. I think you had better tell him that you feel it would be wise to end the correspondence. It would not be fair to him to encourage him in any way.

THE ONE YOU LIKE BEST

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young lady of eighteen, and would like your advice in a matter which perplexes me very much. Last Summer while on my vacation I became acquainted with a young man, who took a liking to me. We spent many pleasant hours together, and on returning to the city I invited him to call on me. Since then he has taken me out several times and asked me to keep company with him.

As I really cared for him, I consented. Through some misunderstanding we quarreled, and he returned my picture by mail. At my girl friend's advice I gave him up. Since then I made the acquaintance of another young man, who seems to care for me much more than my former friend.

Now, Miss Fairfax, the former friend keeps continually writing and asking me to be friends with him again. I would, only for the fact that he sent my picture back. The other man wants me to go steadily with him. As I am very fond of both of them, which one would you advise me to give up?

E. L. B.

I THINK it is entirely a question of which man you like best. As you seem so uncertain you cannot care very desperately for either; but surely you have some slight preference. Do not attempt to keep up your friendship with both or you will be sure to make trouble. The sending back of the photograph was merely a matter of short-lived anger, and there is no reason why you should not forgive the act.

DIVIDED AFFECTIONS

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man twenty-three years of age, and think a great deal of two young ladies of my acquaintance. They both seem to be very fond of me, and I don't know which one to choose. One of these young ladies has a very even disposition, while the other one, whom I think I like the best, has a very changeable disposition. Now, as I am very much in doubt, I would like you to choose for me.

C. G. S.

I AM afraid that yours is a question which you will have to settle for yourself. As you seem so divided in your affections I should not say that you cared very deeply for either girl. When you are quite sure of your own mind will be time enough to make your choice, always provided, of course, that the young woman returns your affection.

My House of Dreams

By URSULA TWENTY.

I WILL go to my House of Dreams, will go where I may slip
The stained garments of the world from me,
For Silence there, with finger on her lip,
And brooding eyes, hath made a sanctuary.

I will go to my House of Dreams, will go where I may rest
My faint spirit wearied with all strife,
For Peace there will lay her hand upon my breast,
And still the trembling pulses they call Life.

I will go to my House of Dreams, will go where I may hide
My bruised heart, which Love hath well-nigh slain,
For I shall find there a shield for my wounded side,
And a mask to hide my pain.

All Hail, St. Patrick!

A Teacher, a Fighter, a Student, a Truly Saintly Man

This is the day of a man great from every point of view. He was as great in courage, persistency and devotion to right as he was in knowledge and in goodness.

He stands out first among those noble characters in the history of Ireland that did so much for truth and progress in the dark days of the world's history.

His life and example have been the inspiration of many millions of the world's best, most earnest and devoted people.

The people of Ireland are proud of him, and well they may be. And all of the world, except those that are ignorant, share in the respect for this brave and saintly man.

It is to the credit of the Irish people that they keep the memory of Saint Patrick green in this country to this day. The man who respects himself, his country and his country's heroes deserves and gets the respect of others.

All honor to Saint Patrick, the teacher of man, devoted follower and disciple of truth and morality!

A Kindhearted Man—and a Failure

A Failure from the World's Point of View, Anyhow. Is There Any Other Point of View? PERHAPS

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

A man was walking near the postoffice about noon yesterday. He was an unusual kind of man, not one of those average human beings that look as much alike as so many biscuits. This man had a sad, rather earnest face. His shoes were not new. His overcoat was a sort of cloak, quite faded.

You could see that the man had education, and he proved that life had not knocked all the kindly feeling out of him.

A horse stood at the curb trying to eat his dinner. It was a thin horse, fastened to a mail wagon.

The horse, like the man, was a failure; thin, bony, a little over on the knees. The nose-bag hanging from his head had straps too long, and he could not reach the oats at the bottom. He was jerking his head nervously, spilling his oats, unable to reach them.

The man with the cloak stopped, put his hand under the nose-bag and held it up while the horse ate his oats. He stood there patiently, holding the nose-bag with one hand, patting the horse on the neck with the other.

He evidently thought it worth while to stand and help that dejected horse eat his dinner. He was still waiting on the horse when others, thinking themselves busy, hurried away.

We tell by looking at that man that he was a failure, from our ordinary human point of view. You could see that he had once been richer than he is to-day. You would know instinctively that if he walked up to the average prosperous man to submit an idea, no matter how good, the prosperous man would hardly listen.

Of course, when you saw him stop to help the horse eat his oats, that told the whole story. In this world a man who has time in the middle of the day to think about the suffering, or the hunger of an animal, can be classed as a failure MOST PROMPTLY.

We don't often bother our heads in this country with horses that are bony and over on the knees, or with men that have kind faces and faded cloaks. We class such creatures generally as among the riffraff of failure, pass them and forget them.

Are they to be ALWAYS forgotten? And always to be failures? An answer to that question would be mildly interesting.

The human failure that helped the nervous horse to eat his oats will, of course, drift along through life and end unhappily. Men have millions and all sorts of success that never in their lives felt or obeyed the humane impulse that helped that poor horse to get his dinner. You don't need to be told that the failure of that man was due probably very largely TO THE GOOD THAT IS IN HIM. And you don't need to be told that his kindness of heart, his desire to help others, would probably account largely for his continued failure.

Do good-hearted men that fail have another chance on this earth, or somewhere else in space? Is there anywhere a power that recognizes and rewards the merit of the patient, kind-hearted failure, or that recognizes and punishes the crime of successful selfishness? We don't know and can't know—we all hope so.

It is some comfort to remember that that faded man, with his mild, kind eyes and his bare hand, blue with cold and perhaps not too much food, holding up the horse's dinner for him, got very probably as much real pleasure out of helping that horse as some other men get out of robbing a hundred thousand men, cheating a million women, or grinding children up in factories.

Perhaps a man whose mind is filled with kindness, who has time and inclination to see the sorrow of a hungry horse, or the beauty of a setting sun, may really be quite as happy as another man that would look down upon him.

Disrespect for Religious Feeling—

It Is Always Brutal and Disgraceful

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

Mr. Lawrence J. Dennehy calls the American's attention to certain postal cards printed in connection with St. Patrick's Day.

These cards, intended, perhaps, to be funny, are really in the vilest taste, and Mr. Dennehy and others protest against them justly. They present under would-be humorous aspects the personality of St. Patrick, one of the really great men in the history of the world's education, a man held in reverence by millions of human beings.

In our opinion, the man who prints, sells or circulates these cards lacks decent feeling and respect for the beliefs of others.

The love of St. Patrick is a deep and most sincere emotion in the hearts of many good citizens. St. Patrick's name is associated with the history of Ireland, with the religious faith of millions, and with national feeling as well as religious faith.

St. Patrick was a man of courage, devotion and intelligence.

He is entitled to the admiration and to the reverence of EVERY MAN, whatever his religious faith. He is also entitled to the respect of the man who has NO religious faith.

It is in vile taste for any man to belittle any religion, or any individuality closely associated with the religion of another man.

The self-respecting citizen treats the religion of every other man exactly as he would the memory of another man's mother.

Religion is not a thing to be ridiculed; all religious individualities should be treated with respect. The police should find some way of suppressing these St. Patrick postal cards by which so many citizens are properly and justly offended.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By William F. Kirk

Ma was reeding the papier & she sed to Pa I see thare is a move on to stop sum of the plays which is playing.

I saw sumthing about it, sed Pa, but I dident pay much attenshun to it. The peepul is commencing to git altogether too fresh with geenyus, anyhow. That is why I havent rote any plays laitly, Pa sed. It wud be awful for a man in my position to rite a play & then have it stopped by the poleece, Pa sed.

I guess thare isent much danger of you riteing any play, sed Ma, & as far as the peepul is concerned, I think it is about time that geenyus got a littel smothering. I think it is about time, sed Ma, that the grate intelleck wich creeated the drama now beeing played by The Giggling Girlies Burlesk Company shud be taught a lesson in good morals, Ma sed.

You arent broad enuff, sed Pa. Of course, in the littel town ware you was born & reared, the littel burg from wich I took you and brought you to a life of ease & elegance in the grate city, they dident have any such plays. All they had thare, if I remember right, sed Pa, was Stricken Blind, East Lynne & Escaped from Portland, or, Brother aggenst Brother.

I am just as broad as you are, sed Ma, & as far as that littel town is concerned, thare are days & days wen I do nothing but wish I was back thare. The ease and elegance of which you speak, sed Ma, is largely vishunary.

I am aggenst the reeform of the stage in the way this paper speeks of, sed Pa. Long yeers ago, sed Pa, wen my geenyus was just beginning for to be recognized, I wrote a drama. It was called The Deceetful Hussy, & toald about a yung dressmaker wich went to church on Sundays & posed for a saint, wen in reality, sed Pa, she always stole the thread and needuls wich she used from day to day.

Everything went all rite till the last act, sed Pa, wen she was caught steeling four (4) spools of No. six (6) thred & a paper of needuls, & she instantly exclaimed. It has caim at last, as I always knew it wud. Then she swallows the paper of needuls & falls ded & then cums the curting.

Wunderful, sed Ma. How did it go?

It was wunderful, sed Pa, & it went all rite the opening nite, but the church peepul sed that the play was about a bad woman, so the village constabel pinched the show, I was ordered to leave the town, sed Pa, by rail.
